3 Youngsters Drowned As Boat Upsets

Kentucky Children Victims In Mishap On Lake In Ohio

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP)—A 10-passenger pontoon boat, crammed with two adults and 11 children from Kentucky, capsized in Indian Lake here Friday, drowning three of the youngsters. The others were rescued.

A futile attempt was made to save the life of one victim, first with artificial respiration and then with heart surgery which took place aboard a rescue craft.

The two adults aboard the overturned boat were the fathers of the drowned children. The victims were Theresa Trauth, 5, and her sister, Mary Claire, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trauth Jr. of Southgate, Ky., and John Barry Brulport, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brulport of South Newport, Ky.

Brulport explained later, "We became alarmed when we noticed the front of the boat was riding high and we all rushed forward"—including Trauth who weighs about 250 pounds. "When we did, the front went down into the water and the whole thing just flopped over."

Robert Brunson of Newport, Ky. was standing near his cabin on shore when he saw his son and the others bobbing to the surface next to the capsized boat. He dove into the lake, swam under the boat and through its guard rails, and pulled one of the victims, Mary Trauth, to the surface.

She and the other two victims, although wearing life jackets, were trapped beneath the boat.

Mary was given artificial respiration, and Lake Park Supt. Bob Harmon, said, "We thought we had brought her around. She got her color back and we got some good strong heart beats."

Then the beats faded. Dr. Ben Storer of Russells Point quickly opened Mary's chest cavity and massaged her heart. But the boat-conducted surgery was in vain.

The other youngsters on the boat were picked up by other pleasure boats.

A dredge, with a crane, later lifted the overturned craft and the bodies of the other two trapped children were recovered.

Police Hunt 2 Gunmen In Bank Stickup

CANTON (AP)—A search continued today for two masked gunmen who took an estimated $6,000 from the Beach City Banking Co. Friday.

The robbers—one tall and the other short and stocky—apparently eluded police roadblocks in two counties by switching getaway cars.

The two men, wearing stocking masks and dark felt hats, entered the bank in the Stark County community shortly before noon. One ordered teller Don Niedenthal to fill a paper bag with money and the other gunman stood near the door.

The pair, both believed to be about 20, fled in a car stolen from Thomas Lindbergh, a grocer. The car was later abandoned and the men apparently sped off in a waiting second car described by police as a green Pontiac.

Stark County deputies, state highway patrolmen, area police and FBI agents joined in the hunt, but failed to locate the vehicle.

LISBON — The sheriff's office had three cruisers on the Columbiana County check for the Beach City bandits Friday afternoon, watching roads in the vicinity of Kensington, near Salem and in the northwest part. The State Highway Patrol also had a cruiser out.

Death Claims Burned Girl

Toronto Student's Bethany Lab Victim

A Toronto area co-ed, burned severely Thursday while working in a chemistry laboratory at Bethany College, died in North Wheeling Hospital at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

College officials said Nancy Ashcraft, 20, of Toronto R.D. 1, (Taylortown) a trained lab technician, had been heating a container of a variation of benzene which she had submerged in a water bath as a safety precaution.

The container was either dropped or accidentally knocked over by Miss Ashcraft who was working alone in the lab on a project termed "aromatic molecular complexes."

Less than four ounces of the chemical ran down the front of the desk to the floor where it burst into flames.

Close by were a fire extinguisher and an asbestos blanket. Miss Ashcraft was seen running from the room, enveloped in flames.

Fear Voiced For Life Of French Chief

Government Braces For Possibility Of Coup This Month

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's government this year regards the mid-August holiday season much as Julius Caesar once regarded the Ides of March.

No soothsayer is needed to warn that the Fifth French Republic stands in danger. Some Frenchmen, and those among the best informed, see even the possibility of an attempted rightist coup d'etat this month.

With De Gaulle the main obstacle to the success of rightist plans, they fear for his life.

The lofty, disdainful president as usual gives no public sign that anything could be wrong with the serenity of his regime. Two days ago he started his usual vacation at his country retreat of Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 120 miles from Paris.

There are plenty of problems. The painfully slow Algerian peace talks have broken down again amid the continuing explosion of plastic bombs. The touchy question of France's Bizerte naval base is still unsettled. The United Nations will debate it Aug. 21. The farmers are acting up again, pressing for Parliament's recall to discuss their problems. Behind it all, the Berlin crisis is looming ever larger.

Professional politicians who oppose De Gaulle see themselves relegated to the background of conducting foreign affairs, so long as the present strong man of France holds power. Many army officers bitterly oppose his proposed solution of the Algerian problem by letting the Algerians choose for themselves. They call it selling out the empire.

Unemployed Claims Drop To Year's Low

After a week's increase, unemployment claims this week dropped to the year's low, Harry L. Dinsmore, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office, said today.

Claims processed this week totaled 733—43 less than the number received for the week ending Aug. 5 and one less than the previous low set the week ending July 29, Dinsmore said.

The claims included 689 regular with 80 new and 509 continued while 144 were filed under the federal extension. Eighteen of those were new and 126 were continued.

Revolt Scare Underlines Aid Urgency

Abortive Argentine Coup May Spark Chain Of Reactions

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay. (AP)—The revolt scare in Argentina underlined today the urgency of President Kennedy's proposals to help cure Latin America's social and economic ills. But it did not interrupt deliberations at the Inter-American Economic Conference here.

Delegates deliberating on how to get Kennedy's $20-billion Alliance for Progress program into motion were acutely aware that attempted uprisings like the abortive Argentine coup Friday night could touch off chain reactions in the countries of this troubled continent.

Reports of the revolt caused a wave of uneasiness until the Buenos Aires government announced the uprising had failed and blamed hotheads.

Argentine Economic Minister Roberto Alemann offered to rush home. His government assured him there was nothing to fear and instructed him to continue his work at the conference.

Squabbles among the Latin American nations threatened to hold up progress at the conference, but a concession by Argentina raised hopes of a solution.

Argentina had balked at signing a final conference declaration unless the meeting dropped the idea of a task force to supervise the development programs of nations to receive aid. The Argentines felt this would compromise their sovereignty and freedom of choice in the program.

The smaller Latin-American countries support the idea of a central commission as a way to safeguard their interests.

After a day of wrangling, Argentina agreed to go along with a new proposal sponsored by Brazil, Mexico, Chile and Colombia.

This plan would provide for a nine-man panel of experts to be named by inter-American agencies to advise—but not direct—the development projects of individual nations. The panel would have no veto power over nations applying for alliance funds.

Months After Predicted 'Death'

Echo I Satellite Marks First Year Orbiting Earth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Echo I, a satellite you can see with the naked eye—observed its first birthday today, still whizzing about the earth months after experts had predicted it would have fallen to a flaming death in the earth's atmosphere.

U.S. experts now estimate the huge balloon satellite, viewed by millions around the world during the past year, may sail around the earth for another year.

Although it has proved much more durable than anticipated, the 100-foot-diameter aluminum-coated sphere is only about two-thirds as effective now as when it was in its prime.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today that in recent experiments in the bouncing of radio signals off the oversized space ball the average reflected energy was about 40 percent less than when it was injected into orbit last Aug. 12.

U.S. Fears Refugee Curb May Speed Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. officials believe an extremely explosive situation may build up very rapidly in East Germany if the Communist regime succeeds in clamping down drastically on the flow of refugees into West Berlin.

Such a situation might have the effect of speeding up the Berlin crisis—bringing it to a fever pitch of tension well before the end of this year. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has threatened to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany before the year is out.

Refugees from the German Communist rule have been fleeing into West Berlin at a rate sometimes approaching 2,000 a day. The total for this year is now close to 150,000. The East German population is about 17.2 million.

East German Deputy Premier Willy Stoph hinted Friday that measures to stop the refugee flow might be taken soon. He said East German travel regulations have been "shamelessly misused."

U.S. experts on German affairs say the effect of cutting off the

More Refugees Flee

Despite Red Controls

BERLIN (AP)—Despite rigorous Red police controls, 1,332 refugees from East Germany registered in West Berlin in the 21 hours up to 1 p.m. today.

In the same period last Saturday the number was 1,100; the previous Saturday, 925.

The total mounted after the Communist regime threatened harsher measures to stem the human tide.

Flight of refugees would be to bottle up in East Germany thousands of discontented people with the result that in their frustration they might turn to outbursts of violence. These could embarrass the Soviet-backed Communist government and create an even higher degree of instability for it.

In event of serious rioting, and particularly if the German Communist forces were unable to cope with the situation, Soviet forces might be employed to restore order.

In 1953, Soviet troops were used to quell riots in several East German cities. At least 17 Soviet divisions were used to enforce a Soviet-proclaimed state of martial law in East Berlin. The uprisings, led by striking German workers, began in mid-June and continued to some degree into September.

The refugee problem is known to have engaged the attention of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high U.S. officials, though there appears to be nothing effective they can do about it at the moment.

Rusk, who returned Thursday night from Berlin crisis talks with allied leaders in Europe, made a personal report to President Kennedy Friday on the progress of NATO planning for both military and diplomatic moves to meet the Soviet challenge over the future of West Berlin.

Leaving Kennedy's office, Rusk told newsmen he had found "a high degree of unity among the Western allies on the Berlin problem."

Last Rebel 'Diehards' Surrender

No Shots Are Fired In Midnight Effort Against President

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A vest-pocket midnight revolt against President Arturo Frondizi came to an abrupt, bloodless end early today as the last rebel holdouts surrendered.

Diehards among the 80-man rebel band gave themselves up at 6:15 a.m. without firing a shot after receiving a surrender ultimatum from troops who ringed the telephone exchange they had seized shortly before midnight. Troops had trained a cannon on the building.

Earlier the rest of the insurgents had surrendered less than five hours after they seized the government radio station to broadcast claims they were taking over the government.

The rebels, who aroused no popular support, have not been clearly identified as to political tint. One of the group claimed they were anti-Communist nationalists with no political links.

Frondizi, who spent the night at his presidential office in conferences with top military and political aides, told newsmen as he left at daybreak, "The episode has definitely ended."

The rebels were arrested. Frondizi declared in a communique shortly after the rebels had broadcast their electrifying announcement that the attempted revolt was a dud. There was no bloodshed.

The government announcement blamed the pocket-sized uprising on "hotheads." It accused them of trying to upset internal peace and damage Argentina's prestige abroad.

Government officials appeared convinced the attempted revolt had no important political significance. Frondizi remained in his office through the night waiting for final word that all resistance had been wiped out.

The abortive revolt caused a flurry of excitement. It roused fears that it might create confusion at the Inter-American Conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay, where delegates are seeking to implement President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program.

Cooler Temperature Follows 'Dry' Storm

A series of thunderstorms rattled and banged over East Liverpool Friday night but produced no more than a few brief sprinkles.

The storm drenched other areas of the district, however, and the Stratton Dam reported 0.76 inch of precipitation. Some parts of the county got rain last night.

Much lightning accompanied the storm which lasted about an hour, finally moving into the east. The light winds helped reduce the evening heat.

Cooler temperatures prevailed today and the predicted high range will be 76 to 82 with less humidity. Tonight's low will be 59 to 63. The downtown had a 69 low this morning.

Sunday will be sunny and mild.

Kennedy May Visit West Virginia Fete

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP)—Unless the affairs of state dictate otherwise, President Kennedy may pay a visit to the 25th annual Mountain State Forest Festival this fall.

Director-General Phil Harness of the festival said he had received a letter from Kennedy in which the President expressed hope that he and the first lady will be able to attend Oct. 6. Kennedy also said that some South American dignitaries are scheduled for a visit to this country at that time and that he might bring them along.

LaCroft Man Killed When Hit By Train

'Accidental' Death Ruled In Mishap Near Brady's Cut

A 49-year-old LaCroft man was killed Friday night at 7:30 when struck by a westbound freight train on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks about a mile east of Wellsville, near the area known as Brady's Cut.

James Glenn Shenton of Park Pl., LaCroft, was struck while sitting on the tracks, authorities said.

Dr. Roy C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, today ruled the death "accidental."

Mr. Shenton was seen earlier walking along the highway. Authorities surmise he became ill or tired and sat down on the tracks. He also had a history of illness.

The engineer, H. W. Green of Columbus, told authorities he noticed the man sitting on the tracks. He said he blew the whistle and applied the brakes but the man did not show any response.

More Liquor Sales Sought To Prop Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state is counting on Ohioans to buy an extra six million bottles of liquor a year to prop up its treasury and balance the budget.

To Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch, the estimate of such a liquor sale increase appears to be a wobbly crutch for state finances.

"I don't see how liquor sales could possibly go that high," Crouch said candidly. "They are picking up, but they're still lagging behind last year's figures at this time."

If liquor sales failed to come up to the estimates of Finance Director James H. Maloon in the next two years, Ohio will lose about $10 million in anticipated income, money that already has been "spent" by legislative appropriation.

On the average, the state makes a little less than $1 on each fifth of liquor it sells.

Furniture Company, Union Continue Talks

EAST PALESTINE — Officials of the Kenmar Manufacturing Co. and the United Mine Workers union held a four-hour negotiating session Friday afternoon but apparently not much progress was made in the effort to reach terms on a working agreement.

The contract expires Tuesday. Another bargaining session was called for Monday afternoon at 1 at the plant. Negotiations have been under way almost 60 days.

Thomas Dunn of Pittsburgh, Region 16 Director of District 50 of the UMW, attended yesterday's session.

The workers last week rejected, 84-1, a company proposal to trim wages. Officials of the firm say the plant will be closed down permanently unless wage costs can be reduced.

Projects were judged. The next meeting is Sept. 11 with Billy and Ralph Baxter of Cream Ridge Rd. Raymond Baker is the leader.

Kennedy Set To Mix Work, Relaxation

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy, cheered by a key Senate victory for his long-range foreign aid program, tackled some homework at his summer home today and hoped to get in some rest and relaxation.

Kennedy brought with him from Washington a stack of documents, mostly dealing with the Berlin crisis.

If the weather improved, he hoped to put them aside long enough to get in a cruise on Nantucket Sound. This is his seventh Cape Cod weekend in a row.

Soon after his arrival, Kennedy got word the Senate had defeated an amendment sponsored by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to deny him long-range authority to lend foreign aid funds borrowed from the Treasury without annual congressional approval.

"The President was extremely gratified by the vote in the Senate tonight," said press secretary Pierre Salinger, "and particularly pleased by the bipartisan aspects of that vote."

Ten Republicans voted against the amendment.

Salem Area Car Victim Claimed

SALEM — Mrs. Mildred Clay, 49, of Canfield, one of seven injured in a two-car crash near here Aug. 4, died Friday at Youngstown Hospital.

Her daughter, Mrs. Bruce Peterson, 27, and the latter's foster children, Sandra, 1, and Robert, 2, all of Canfield, were among those injured. The crash occurred on Route 82 in nearby Mahoning County.

A short woman in her late 40's or early 50's still is being sought by the State Patrol as an eye witness to the crash, four and a half miles north.

The patrol said a second witness, Robert Sargent of Cuyahoga Falls, reported the woman was in front of him and was in a better position to see. He gave patrolmen a description.

Truck Driver Fined On Dumping Charge

A driver for the Parsons Concrete Co. was fined for violation of a city ordinance which prohibits the dumping of trash and rubbish on city or private property at a hearing this morning before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Roy Young of East Liverpool R. D. 2 was fined $15 on the charge filed by John Calhoun of Wellsville.

Young was cited Friday afternoon at 3 for cleaning out the chute on his concrete truck and dumping the residue on property owned by Calhoun, police said.

Ex-Spy Gives Advice On Best Technique

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Daniel T. Moore, an OSS spy during World War II, said in a talk here that "the first rule of spy warfare is: 'Never tell your own people more than they need to know.'"

"If there is a World War III—and I doubt it because you seldom have a fire in a match factory—the battles of tomorrow will be decided by the spies of today," he said.

Has 17th Child

ALTUS, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Eddie Everett, 36, recently gave birth to a son. It was her 17th child.

Legion Group Hears Bettis

State Rep. J. Warren Bettis, guest speaker, discussed the recent session of the State Legislature at a meeting of the Columbiana County American Legion Council Friday night at Salineville Post 442.

Bettis outlined legislation concerning veterans. He also said a bill he sponsored that would permit establishment of a community college in Columbiana County had been signed by Gov. Michael Di-Salle.

The school would be a junior college. It can be established either by action of county commissioners or by a vote of the people.

Al Hayes of Columbiana, first vice commander, presided in the absence of Walter McCoy of Lisbon, commander, who is on vacation. All 12 posts in the county were represented.

The annual council picnic was set for Sept. 17. It had been scheduled for Sunday. A family affair, it will be held at a lake near North Georgetown at 1 p. m.

The council will make its annual visit to the Massillon State Hospital Oct. 11. Guests were Sam Seikel of Dover, 10th District commander, and Dwight Bush of North Georgetown, district second vice commander.

Nick Angle of Mansfield, president of the Ohio Service Officers Association, will be guest speaker at the next meeting Sept. 8 at Post 4 in East Liverpool, according to Mrs. Virginia Mast, county adjutant.

Entries Will Be Received Monday For County Fair

LISBON — The office of Clarence Crosser, secretary of the Columbiana County Agriculture Society, will be open Monday at the Fairgrounds to accept entries for the 116th annual County Fair Aug. 22-26.

Entries will close at 5 p. m. Aug. 21, with arrangement of exhibits to be completed by 10 p.m. The annual fair will open Tuesday, Aug. 22, when Junior Fair Day will be observed. Highlights will include a livestock and machinery parade, including the 4-H king and queen and court, along with 4-H floats, beginning at 7 p.m., followed by the 4-H revue in front of the grandstand at 8.

During the day, there also will be weighing of 4-H and FFA steers, judging of Junior Fair dairy cattle and poultry judging, along with the Junior Fair program beginning at 1:30 p.m. when the king and queen will be crowned.

Wednesday's program will include light draft horse pulling contest at 9:30 a.m., followed by Junior Fair dairy showmanship contest at 10:30. There will be judging of 4-H and FFA steers at 1 p.m., harness racing at 1:30 p.m. and judging of Junior Fair beef breeding classes and beef showmanship contest. A horse show will be held at 7 and the Junior Fair steer sale will be held at 8.

Activities Thursday will include a heavy draft horse pulling contest, horse racing, livestock and machinery parade and a variety show in front of the grandstand. Tractor pulling contest and pony judging will be featured Friday morning and afternoon, followed by livestock and machinery parade at 7 and King Brothers rodeo at 8.

Saturday, there will be a pony pulling contest in the forenoon and horse racing in the afternoon, followed by livestock and machinery parade at 7 and last showing of the rodeo at 8.

Fair board officers include William Maple of Kensington, president; Ben Weingart of Leetonia R.D., vice president; V. B. Lemley of Lisbon, treasurer, and P. R. Corey of Columbiana, concession secretary.

Drowning

hour search was about to be called off.

A rescue team from Dayton, using grappling hooks, first latched onto the body of 8-year-old David Eldridge in front of the Enon Beach diving tower. Shortly after, they recovered the body of his brother, Claude Michael Eldridge, 11, near the same spot. Both were clad in bathing suits.

Mrs. Claude Eldridge said the last time she saw her sons Thursday they were wading along the edge of the pond. She said neither of them could swim.

She said she had been getting ready to leave the beach for home and called for the boys to come along. She went to her car and when they didn't show up, she began looking for them. Finally she notified the beach manager they were missing.

foreign aid bill. It includes $1,187,000,000 in loan funds for this year.

Still left for decision when the Senate quit for the weekend is whether it will vote the full five-year, $8.8-billion program Kennedy has asked for making easy-term loans to underdeveloped nations.

Amendments will be offered next week to cut the number of years of long-term borrowing authority and reduce the yearly totals. But Friday night's action nailed down Senate support of the principle of borrowing authority—which Byrd and other opponents denounced as "back-door financing."

This method of financing may encounter rougher going in the House, which takes up the foreign aid bill next week. Byrd told reporters the sizable Senate vote against the proposal would strengthen House resistance.

3 Autoists Forfeit In Court At Chester

Three motorists forfeited appearance bonds totaling $41.50 this morning before Chester acting Mayor Roy Cashdollar.

Robert Fuller of Eastlake forfeited $15.50 on a charge of making an illegal U-turn. He was cited Tuesday on Carolina Ave. at 1st St. by Patrolman Clarence Lennens.

Kenneth M. Dick of Shippingport forfeited $10.50 for obstructing traffic in a no parking zone on Carolina Ave. at 8th St. He was cited Sunday by Police Chief Harold Davis.

Harry James Herron of Georgetown forfeited $15.50 for speeding at 45 in a 25-mile zone on Carolina Ave. last Saturday. He was cited by Lennens.

Bathing Suits Taken

LISBON — Mrs. John Yovanovic of Lisbon R.D. 4 reported to the sheriff's department that 15 bathing suits were stolen from her cabin at Guilford Lake sometime early Friday morning. She valued them at $65. Six large bath towels worth $18 also were taken. Deputies are investigating.

by other students and Dr. Dale Ritchie, the professor in charge of the project.

They caught her and extinguished the flames, but not before she had been burned critically.

A junior at Bethany majoring in physics and a top student of her class, she had been working on a project sponsored by the National Science Foundation in its undergraduate research training program.

The experiment lacked only the finishing touches when the accident occurred about 2 p.m. Miss Ashcraft suffered second and third degree burns of her face and 50 per cent of her body.

A member of the National Honor Society, she was valedictorian of the 1959 Senior Class of Jefferson Union High School, and was a representative to Ohio Girls' State in 1958.

She was born March 27, 1941, in Steubenville, daughter of Harlan and Reva Smith Ashcraft. She was a member of the Island Creek Presbyterian Church.

Besides her parents, she leaves a sister, Linda Jill Ashcraft at home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith of Brown, W. Va., and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ashcraft of Salem, W. Va.

Services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the Clarke Funeral Home in Toronto by the Rev. Norman Reidesel. Burial will be in Island Creek Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9, and Sunday from 12 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Legion Post To Hold Family Picnic Sunday

The American Legion Post 374 will hold its family picnic Sunday at Valley Park, beginning about noon with dinner at 4.

The post will meet Monday at 8 p.m. with James Cregar, commander, in charge. The executive committee will meet at 7:15.

A dance will be held tonight at the post home to music of Dick Malone's orchestra.

Lisbon investigated. Officers said the body was badly mangled.

He was a laborer and was born in Ohio in 1912.

Survivors include three daughters, Glenda Mae Shenton, Evelyn Marie Shenton and Nancy Lynn Shenton, all of Wellsville; two sons, James Glenn Shenton Jr. and Roger Lee Shenton, both of LaCroft; two brothers, William H. Shenton of LaCroft and Alfred Shenton with the Army in Germany, and three sisters, including Mrs. Mae Brown of Irondale.

Graveside services were to be held this afternoon after selection of a cemetery.

The Haugh Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Every Refugee Is Proof

When big-time boxing was flourishing, rival camps used to issue statements that sounded much like the statements coming out of the rival camps in today's ideological warfare.

Every contender made it appear he was itching for a chance to hit his unworthy opponent with everything but the ring posts.

They would hint at blows and secret punches of such devastating force that no human being could withstand them.

The contempt they felt for each other beggared description, but generally defined it was like the contempt the powerful tiger feels for the cowardly hyena.

They thought of this as psychological warfare. The object was to instill fear, not so much by what was said but by stimulating imagination to a degree that would induce more inner fears than could be implanted by any outsider.

"Cold War" hadn't been heard of, though the principles were well-known. This is what is going on today, backed up by the realities of mobilization and accelerated training. But as in the old days of big-time boxing, more blood is being shed in press releases than will be shed in the ring.

THERE ARE certain realities to be remembered. One of these has been buried under countless repetitions of a title for the part of the Federal Republic of Germany occupied by troops of the Soviet Union — East Germany. There is no such thing as East Germany.

The Communists have worked tirelessly to make it appear there are two Germanys—West Germany and East Germany. They even gave East Germany a fancy name—the German Democratic Republic. They set it up as a puppet state, so they could go through the motions of negotiating with it.

And now, in the great battle of the press releases, they are bearing down harder than ever on the grossest misconception conceivable — that this nonexistent state could sign a treaty with Russia.

There is only one German state, the Federal Republic of Germany, with its capital in Bonn. Part of this state is occupied by Russian troops. Part of the metropolis of Berlin is occupied by Russian troops. The Federal Republic of Germany is occupied by different countries, but it's all the same republic.

GERMANS from the Russian-occupied part of the Federal Republic of Germany are streaming to safety so if an armed clash occurs they will be under the protection of the Western Allies.

These are people spoken of, for convenience, as refugees from East Germany. But they are not, in fact, refugees. They are Germans who have despaired of being delivered to their homeland by Russians, so they have taken matters into their own hands and joined their fellow citizens of West Germany.

That is the way they are received — as fellow citizens. That is the way they think of themselves.

The figment of a separate state called East Germany, or the German Democratic Republic, exists only in the minds of people who accept everything the Russians say as the truth, though the truth is never in their political spokesmen.

Gentlemen, Please Be Silent

John M. Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says the prestige of the United States is very high.

William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, says U.S. prestige is very low.

Both gentlemen are talking like politicians. If ever a subject should be barred to people who talk like politicians it is the prestige of the United States.

It is no more an issue than the honesty of the United States.

It is not a matter that can be determined by discussion.

When it was brought into the national campaign last year, Americans blushed over a kind of political infighting that would egg Americans into yammering pros and cons about their own prestige.

ONE OF THE principal reasons for young President Kennedy's trouble in communicating with the American people so far has been the resentment many of them have felt about his making an issue of the republic's prestige.

They especially resented the implication he would do more for the nation's prestige than Dwight D. Eisenhower had been able to do.

They thought of this bitterly last April when the fiasco in Cuba occurred. And they are thinking of it now, when the United States is being squeezed in the nutcracker of international pressure politics.

They will do everything in their power to do credit to their country. They will not do anything to detract from its prestige. They believe President Eisenhower did everything in his power to do this; that President Kennedy is doing everything in his power; that all presidents have done so. It is not a matter for discussion.

IF THE CHAIRMEN of the national committees of the two parties will please be silent on the subject from now on, all of us will continue to try to forget the matter ever was mentioned in the 1960 campaign.

The Once Over

Imaginary tape-recording of conversation between first American cosmonaut and President in the Maj. Titov-Khrushchev manner:

Airman: Dear Friends and comrades of the wonderful U.S.A. I have the great honor of carrying out this epochal exploit and wish to thank all the scientists and engineers who built this safe ship. I hope, I hope, I hope. Convey my greetings to noble leader, John F. Kennedy.

President: I embrace you and the Democratic party embraces you.

Airman: Illustrious ruler of a great people, I thank you. This is your outer space eagle bird speaking and I promise not to lay an egg.

President: Washington, and Hyannis embrace you. How are you enjoying the trip? Airman: I am well and it is a wonderful ride. No traffic snarls or roads under repair anywhere.

President: Boston and Harvard embrace you. Are you eating well?

Airman: I am doing my own cooking and its fun being a weightless cook trying to catch a floating omelet the first time around. Buttering the toast is proceeding according to plan. I wish to thank the scientists for putting salt and pepper on this ship and I want to say hello to all my boyhood friends who always said I would never get very far or go very high in life.

President: Can you see much up there?

Airman: I can see some cities, but I can't see Pittsburgh, Minnesota or the Kansas City clubs. A ball just went by me hit by either Maris or Mantle. I wish to give my best wishes to the entire Kennedy family.

President: Thank you, Jacqueline says if she knew you were going she would have baked a cake.

Airman: That does it. I had intended to circle the globe only 15 times but now I shall go for 20!

President: Secretary McNamara and Dean Rusk embrace you.

Airman: I dedicate this ship to the National Democratic Committee, the present administration and little Caroline. Farewell for now, dear Americans. I am going to turn in for the night and I wish you the same relaxation down on earth that a babe can get way up here.

Anchor Of The Freedom Defense Line

East Berliners Deride Khrushchev

By Victor Riesel

SOVIET SECTOR, BERLIN Permit me a cloak and dagger moment. It came late in the afternoon after I had made contact, in my own fashion, with some of those East Germans of courage who had fought Russian soldiers on June 17, 1953. We walked around the very spot on the Communists' showcase street, "Stalin Allee," where the brief fighting first flared.

Victor Riesel

My companions were not furtive today. They spat in the direction of a "Vo-Po" (Communist Volks Polizei) and said they were ready to fight the Russians again — in the hope that street rioting in East Berlin would trigger a flash fire of insurrection throughout the satellites.

I told my new friends — who were from the locomotive works at Henningsdorf right outside Berlin — that I had just come from the embattled headquarters of West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

He is worried, he told me, lest N. S. Khrushchev might really seal the "border" to refugees.

This would bottle up the tension in the Communist sector and zone, which could burst into another revolt — and another Hungary and another ghastly massacre.

MY CONTACTS from Henningsdorf agreed that Khrushchev would use tanks and machine guns. But they said it might be impossible to hold down a hungry people, a desperate people, once they felt the last escape route to the free world had been plugged with concrete and Red soldiers.

I might challenge the word hungry, they said.

They pointed out that though the West does not know it, there is a ration card system in the Soviet zone. This had recently been renewed for butter, it was explained.

The allotment now is less than a quarter of a pound a week for a family of any size. Furthermore, there literally is a shortage of bread, meat, sausage, potatoes, vegetables and, of course, fruit.

So tough is this food supply crisis now that some wit has come up with a gag that has made the rounds of millions.

The story goes that the Communist regime is distributing a questionnaire asking: "Do you plan to remain in the Zone until 1965? If yes, how do you plan to feed yourself during this period?"

There was derisive laughter when the subject came up of N. S. Khrushchev's new draft party program in which Moscow's theorists state that capitalism is doomed.

ONE FRIEND pointed backward toward the brilliantly neon lit streets of West Berlin, capitalist outpost a hundred miles within the Soviet bloc. There, out of a working population of 800,000, less than 20,000 are jobless.

Further west in free Germany itself, there are less than 15,000 unemployed out of a population of some 54 million.

In fact, the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has stopped taking tax deductions for unemployment insurance. The reserve is so vast that no more money is needed.

As for the sector of Berlin lying on the other side of nearby Potsdamer Platz and the Brandenburg Gate, its capitalist economy supplies much of the ready cash for working people of Communist Berlin.

There are, for example, some 65,000 East Berliners crossing the line daily to work under the same capitalism at which Chairman Khrushchev sneers. Their average wage is anywhere from six to ten times that of similar workers in the Soviet sector.

In comparison, if capitalism is doomed, why are so few West Berliners crossing the line to work in the Soviet plants?

ONLY 12,000 West Berliners work for East employers. Of these, some 6,000 never leave West Berlin. They are employed by the S-Bahn, the rapid transit system seized and now operated by the Communists.

These 6,000 really live and work in West Berlin but draw their pay from the East.

Now, of the remaining 6,000, some 1,500 are actors, artists and performers in the entertainment and cultural field.

They are really not West Berliners. They are highly-paid Communists who have the means to live well in the West sector. So they live there but entertain in Communist cultural institutions.

They really can't be counted as going from West to East, though physically they do.

This leaves 4,500. A breakdown of this group shows they are mostly older workers who don't want to lose their pension and welfare rights in East sector plants.

In other words, the score stands at 65,000 East Berliners who prefer to cross from communism to capitalism each day — but just a handful of workers who choose freely to go from capitalism to communism.

THIS IRKS the Soviet propagandists. There are other instances of this preference for free capitalism.

The Soviets, for example, set up a labor training school for Asian-African unionists at Bernau. This is some 15 miles from the city.

A few months ago the Russians closed this union training center. It was too close to capitalism.

The Asian-African labor men would drive into West Berlin and be impressed by the superiority of a free society. So the Soviets closed the school and moved it somewhere near Dresden.

One friend from the Henningsdorf locomotive works spat again on the warped pavement.

"All this," he said waving his hand at Stalin Allee, "is doomed, not your world. Khrushchev knows this. That's why he's starting all this trouble."

"Please, please, tell them back home."

I said I would.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Maud Shepherd was elected president of the King's Class of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Ruth Hoffrichter of 1st St., East End, returned after a two-week vacation at Atlantic City.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Ruth Burrell, dietitian at City Hospital, left for a month's visit at Port Credit, Ontario, Canada.

Atty. Raymond S. Buzzard served as acting city solicitor during the annual vacation of Carroll P. Lynch.

James Batey and Philip Fuhrer received the chevalier degree at a meeting of the Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

TEN YEARS AGO — William Bamer was elected president of the Webb Corp.

Sanders Firestone of East Liverpool was named supreme trustee during the Fraternal Order of Orioles 41st national convention in Columbus.

Odd Facts

An octane rating when applied to gasoline is a figure indicating the quality of gasoline. A gasoline with a rating of 100 octane is equal in anti-knock qualities to pure octane.

The earliest recognized inhabitants of North America are Folson Man and Sandia Man in the United States and Tepepan Man in Mexico. They go back 10,000 to 20,000 years.

About 94 per cent of American companies permit "coffee breaks" in the business routine of their employees.

Hold That Tiger

The Bengal tiger is thriving in the Sundarbans — bad news for deer and honey collectors.

A veteran forest ward estimates that at least 950 of the fearful beasts now live in Pakistan's section of the swampy jungle where the many mouths of the Ganges empty into the Bay of Bengal.

The number of tigers in the Sundarbans almost has doubled in the past seven years. The tigers prefer a diet of deer, but some are man-eaters.

Tigers often pounce upon villagers searching for honeycombs in remote parts of the Sundarbans. The great cats also carry off people who venture into the jungle to gather thatch leaves.

Tigers have killed as many as a thousand persons a year in Pakistan and India. Entire villages have been deserted because of the depredations of man-eating tigers.

In the Satpura Range of central India, which Rudyard Kipling called "scrubby, tigerish country," authorities frequently offer rewards to hunters who bag man-eaters.

Primitive tribesmen believe a tiger holds the ghosts of its victims in thrall. They say spirits of the dead sit on the animal's head and go everywhere with it. The ghosts are said to warn the tiger against danger and to aid it in destroying men.

The word pinto probably came from the Spanish adjective pinto, meaning painted or mottled. At least one pinto horse landed in America with the Cortes expedition.

Padre Island, off the coast of Texas, has the longest reach of undeveloped seashore in the United States outside of Alaska.

Nikita Overplays Hand

By David Lawrence

Europe Criticizes Political Overtones

IN EUROPE Unquestionably Nikita Khrushchev has overplayed his hand in the propaganda speeches he has delivered extolling the Soviet orbital flights as the product of the Communist-socialist system. This is resented throughout Europe. Many a newspaper in countries like Sweden, Norway and Denmark has just expressed the criticism that celebration of a scientific experiment should not be cloaked in the language of international politics or polemics.

In addition, there is some skepticism developing about Major Titov's feat itself. While this is not as outspoken as the doubts that were expressed about Major Gagarin's story of his flight into space, some significant questions are nevertheless being raised.

Thus, Major Titov told newsmen in Moscow that he controlled the ship himself. When asked how he did this, he replied: "I began manual guidance of the cosmic ship according to program at 10 o'clock (on Sunday). My ship is a very cleverly constructed machine, and easy to steer. It was possible to orientate it in any direction, to direct it where you needed, and where you wanted it to land. When I had the steering of the ship in my hands, I felt just like a real pilot. My first impression from manual operation is very good."

HERE IS WHAT the Reuters news service reported to the European press in a dispatch from Stanford, Calif.: "C. Stark Draper, head of aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, described as 'malarkey' press reports that cosmonaut Gherman Titov controlled the course of his Vostok II during his orbiting of the earth. Mr. Draper says: "That boy didn't do anything more than Shepard did on his ride. He didn't have the thrust aboard to go out of his orbital path."

On this same point comes an article in the London Daily Telegraph by its science correspondent, Anthony Smith, who writes: "Major Titov's remarks about his ability to maneuver his craft in space are frustratingly obscure. It would be interesting to know more about those automatic manual controls which work so easily. . . . 'Until fresh evidence is available, it must be assumed that he carried no large power unit on board with which to change his orbit. Until such a power unit is carried in a Russian rocket, the space man will be able only to rotate his craft within its orbit or to fire the retro-rockets and leave it altogether."

Another part of Major Titov's speech delivered in the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow is coming in for considerable discussion.

THE ASTRONAUT said that, while in space, he had seen the lights of big cities by night and continents and oceans by day.

While it takes enormous-sized telescopes to see at great distances, it would seem that by some magic of Khrushchev's communism the astronaut carried in his small space ship a telescope capable of distinguishing from nearly 160 miles above the earth the lights of cities at night. This has aroused widespread comment and expressions of doubt in Europe.

Because the Russians have never given the world the essential facts about how Major Gagarin conducted his flight, some scientists who developed a skepticism because of contradictory statements made by Major Gagarin after his flight are equally doubtful now about the Titov story of what he did aboard a small satellite.

European newspapers, for instance, are carrying dispatches from Washington written by their own correspondents, pointing out that the Russians have never told the whole story of the Gagarin flight.

The London Daily Telegraph correspondent attributes to officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington the statement that the Russians have given only three salient facts about Major Gagarin's flight: the launching site, the landing point, and the flight time.

THESE BARE FACTS were filed by the Russians with the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris, the international agency which certifies flying records. American officials are said to have expressed a hope the Russians would be more informative about Major Titov's journey than they have been about Major Gagarin's.

By contrast, the United States government has made to the scientific world full disclosure of the details of the flights of Cdr. Shepard and Capt. Grissom and intends to follow the same policy in the future for its space flights.

So far as scientific proof available to other countries is concerned, everything that was transmitted by radio from the Titov craft could have been recorded on tape ahead of time and played back on schedule from an orbiting satellite, and all the speeches could have been rehearsed in advance.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I stood up and cheered when I heard about the revolt against weather forecasts on "squawk-boxes" and "gawk-boxes," as you call them. This has been a sore point with me, but I had despaired of finding friends.

Now I have friends as influential as Robert Moses in New York, Guy Lombardo, the orchestra leader, and investigators from the Federal Communications Commission. We have a fighting chance to get to the bottom of this thing.

I have news for my new-found friends. If they are looking for sinister motives behind weather forecasts that mislead the public, they will be disappointed. There are no sinister motives.

The culprit is incompetence. Forecasting the weather locally is beyond the competence of the sources of information relied on by radio and television spiels. Where they go wrong is to use regional weather reports for local forecasting.

It's even more complicated than that, if you listen closely, which most people do not do, I am sure. What these people relay to their listeners is a smattering of information about general conditions, but the listeners interpret it in relation to localities and their own problems.

Thus, a fellow like Guy Lombardo complains about what happened when the electronic spiels harped on how bad the weather would be over a recent nice weekend, saying it would be the "worst of the summer." The forecast kept crowds away in droves from a marine show Mr. Lombardo is producing at Jones Beach, in which Mr. Moses also is interested because he is president of the Long Island State Park Commission, which sponsors the show.

They suspect skulduggery. They hint the motive for the sour forecasting was to keep people at home listening to radio and watching television. I too have thought of the possibility that hopeful forecasts in this part of the country, where it rains most of the time, might be to induce people to buy beer, weenies, picnic supplies; fill up the old chugger and go buzzing off on a money-spending foot.

These suspicions suggest a too-easy explanation. The truth is that electronic weather forecasting is such a saleable commodity the boys keep stretching a point.

They make predictions outside the field of their competence. Weather is local, not regional. If you're putting on an outdoor show you don't give two whoops what the weather is like 25 miles away as long as it's favorable for you.

I've never forgotten an occasion when your aunt and I spent a lovely day away from home—50 miles away—and discovered when we came home that our locality had been blown apart and drenched by the worst storm of the summer. I have seen rain fall in torrents five miles away during a time when everything on our place was burning up in a drought. One summer this happened six times right here in this neighborhood.

No electronic spieler could know anything about such a thing. Yet, this is what the spiels would have to be able to do if they could forecast local weather. Years ago, your aunt and I and other newspaper readers learned to shrug off newspaper weather forecasts because they frequently said Fair and Warmer after it already had turned Rainy and Colder.

This is what we'll have to do with the over-dramatized forecasts on the squawk-and gawk boxes. We'll have to learn to take them for what they're worth.

Youth Camps Will Be Held At Dixonville

Annual youth camp of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church will begin Monday at the denomination's campgrounds at Dixonville.

The Junior High sessions will be held Monday through Friday and the Christian Youth Crusaders' camp Aug. 21-25.

This is the first time separate camps will be held. About 100 young people are expected to attend each as the joint camps drew over 200.

Serving as director will be the Rev. J. E. Lee, and as camp manager, the Rev. D. D. Pershing, both of Pittsburgh.

The Rev. Julian Rose of Springfield, a Christian artist and magician, will be chaplain at both sessions. Rev. Rose presents the Gospel with objects, tricks and magic.

Parents and friends will be invited Friday for Guest Night.

The daily schedule will include Bible study, at 9:35 a. m., followed with craft and badge classes and supervised recreation.

The Rev. R. L. Page, superintendent of the Rochester District, will serve as general manager of the Senior High camp of the conference to be held next week at Apollo, and the Rev. S. H. Estel, pastor of the Oakland church, will serve as a teacher.

Events Set In Churches Of District

Mrs. Eileen B. Brown will be guest soloist at the 11 a. m. worship Sunday at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. Bonnie Rymer will attend Junior High V Conference beginning Sunday at Beaver Creek Camp. The Board of Trustees will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the minister's study.

The Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, a superintendent of the Steubenville District, will be guest speaker Sunday at 10:45 a. m. at the First Methodist Church. Richard Smith will be guest soloist.

The Rev. Glenn B. Woods, a retired Baptist minister, will speak at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning in the absence of the Rev. Albert Rodenhuisen, who is teaching in a junior Baptist camp at Loudonville.

A home talent program will be sponsored by Stewardess Board No. 1 Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Wellsville. Mrs. Estella Shadrack is president.

Edwin Wine, an elder and a clerk of the Session of the Chester First United Presbyterian Church, will speak Sunday morning.

Dr. D. S. Dimmerling will be the speaker Sunday morning at the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church. Assisting in the service will be Robert Coie and Gale Williams.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie Series Ends Sunday

PROPHETS and TEACHERS—2

The faith of John the Baptist gave him the courage to rebuke a ruler, yet the humility to acknowledge some one greater than himself. He reproved Herod "for all the evils which Herod had done"; yet when his followers questioned whether he were Christ, John answered: "One mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose."

Five-Point Program For Problems

Today I returned to one of my favorite places, a place of special meaning to me, for there I once found an answer to a difficult personal problem. This favorite spot is the Church of St. Paul outside the walls of Rome. To me this is one of the most beautiful churches in the world. It is approached through a vast colonnade of a drangle representing an ancient pagan temple. A colossal statue of St. Paul stands in the center. Inside the cool depths of the church a veritable forest of marble columns stretches away toward the great altar under which lie the mortal remains of the great apostle. Buried first in the catacombs after his beheading on the Appian Way, they were brought to this church 150 years later. Fifty-seven windows of pure alabaster shed a golden and mystic light in which the Holy Presence is not hard to sense. In this enormous vaulted structure all sounds of footsteps or voices are muted so that one is conscious of peace in depth.

DR. PEALE

I CAME FIRST to St. Paul's outside the walls years ago as a tourist sightseer and was impressed with it then, more so even than by St. Peter's. But it was some years later that I entered it at a time when I was struggling with a problem that was disturbing me. I recall that I seated myself on the broad base of the last pillar in the last row of huge columns that march down the nave in towering rows of 20.

I found myself relaxing mentally and physically and actually yielding my mental strain to the encompassing peacefulness of the noble church. I remembered and said over and over one of St. Paul's own glorious phrases, "the peace of God which passeth all understanding."

Suddenly it seemed as if my problem detached or separated itself from my mind, and the feeling of relief was great indeed. I had the feeling that God Himself had taken my problem over for the moment.

At any rate, my mind having been relieved of its burden, I was able to compose and re-orient my thinking. I then prayed for guidance. It was an unforgettable experience, for when the problem was handed back to me, my consciousness had been reconditioned so that I was able to deal with it efficiently and to work out a proper solution, whereas before going to this church I had been perplexed and confused.

IN PROBLEM solving there are many procedures, but one that can be very important is to let your problem go into the hands of God temporarily until you get your mind into an organized condition for handling it. That this is a practical method is evidenced by the sort of people who use it. The late Dale Carnegie once told me that when he had a tough problem he would walk along the street and drop into the nearest church. He would sit quietly, allowing the atmosphere to calm the mind. Then he would ask for direction, and so often did he receive right answers that he had great confidence in this method of problem handling.

Roger Babson, the famous statistician, likewise laid great stress on the value of meditation in an empty church in finding answers to perplexities.

One recently in New York I went to the office of a friend of mine on 5th Ave. to go to lunch with him. As we came from his office building, he said, "Norman, I have a problem on my mind. Would you mind dropping into St. Thomas' with me for a few minutes?" So we entered the beautiful Episcopal Church and sat together in a rear pew.

Only a few others were there, as it was not at service time. As we emerged to the street, he said, "Going into a church as we have just done is the best mental cobweb-clearer I know about. It helps me a lot."

BUT THERE is a definite technique to this form of problem solving, this method of going into a church for quietness, releasing and guidance. The several elements in the technique are: Sit in a pew and deliberately throw your mind into neutral. Consciously relax your body, letting all muscles go limp. Think of the problem as being lifted free of your mind; conceive of God as taking it over from you.

While the problem is mentally separated from you, conceive of your consciousness as being reconditioned to receive it back. Ask for and believe that you are receiving guidance, that new insights will come. I can assure you that this five-point program is one of the best of all methods of problem solving.

6 Services Wind Up Hollow Rock

Six services are scheduled Sunday to conclude the 14th annual Hollow Rock camp meeting. Featured will be a missionary service at 1:30 p. m. and the closing service at 7:30 p. m., which is expected to draw the largest crowd of the 10-day series which opened Aug. 3.

The Rev. Dale McClain, missionary from Hong Kong, will be the speaker at the missionary service and Dr. H. Gilbert Williams of Haddonfield, N.J., Methodist evangelist, will give the final sermon.

OTHER SERVICES are scheduled for 9 a. m. with Dr. Williams speaker; 10:30 a. m., Dr. John Church of Winston Salem, N.C.; 2 p. m., Miss Janie Bradford of Washington, Pa., and 2:30, Dr. J. C. McPheeters, president of Asbury Theological Seminary.

Missionary Day was also observed Friday when the Rev. Hubert K. Clevenger Jr., Brazil missionary; the Rev. William A. Smith, missionary to India, and the Rev. Burnis Bushong, missionary to Honduras, were among speakers.

Other workers are Prof. Marvin G. Dean, head of the Department of Music and Fine Arts at Taylor University; the Rev. R. Ray Snyder, a Methodist minister; Miss Lynn Smith, director of the Deuber Ave. Methodist Church Choir of Canton, and Miss Emily Moore of Damascus, former teacher of Bible at Malone College. Edith Turner Clark has been camp nurse.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children Imitate Our Selfishness

A child is born selfish. Any selfishness he later shows he must have learned. We train him to ward unselfishness as we, in hundreds and hundreds of situations, curb his selfish urges, train him to learn to wait, train him in respect for No and for the rights of others; as we, moreover, ap-Dr. Garry Meyers prove the smallest gains in unselfishness in him. We also may cultivate unselfishness in him by our example of unselfishness, when he is not often on the receiving end. If we keep making sacrifices to satisfy his wants and whims he may grow more selfish. It's when he sees us feeling and acting unselfishly toward others that our example may prove best for him.

WE PARENTS betray selfish or unselfish attitudes toward others as we talk to our friends. One distinctive type of this communication is when we meet, after some years, old playmates, old neighbors or old classmates. Our children may hear what we say then.

For some years I have been impressed with the wide difference among these old friends in terms of what they say on my seeing them and the questions they ask. From your memories you can easily check with me. At one extreme is the old neighbor or classmate who right away wants to know more and more about you, but you find it hard to get him to talk about himself.

At the other extreme is the old-timer who goes on and on about his own family, himself and his achievements.

He may not pause to ask at all of your loved ones, your experiences and doings in the meanwhile. You see him as a very self-centered person.

YOU HAVE LIKE experience if, on passing through this person's town or city, you call him up. How soon did he quit talking about himself and shift to asking you about yourself?

So strongly have I been impressed with this type of self-centered person that I have resolved to try never to be quite as selfish. How I would dread having my children or grandchildren listen in if I behaved in such a manner!

There's just one other thing I've kept building up resolutions against — never to describe an operation I have had — haven't really had one yet. But if I ever have one, may God still my lips about it. How shameful if my children or grandchildren ever heard such from me!

These may appear to some of my readers to be small matters. I don't believe they are. They represent some goals at self-discipline we parents and grandparents might properly consider. My bulletin "The Very Selfish Child" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Indian Flint Blades Found At Guilford

LISBON — Tom Pike, historian and museum operator, said a recent find of a cache of flint blades on the middle fork of Little Beaver Creek, five miles northeast of Guilford Lake, is perhaps the most extensive to date.

Some 350 of the blades from 2½ to 9 inches in length were found in a glacial deposit in the shape of a mound, placed there by the Hopewell culture of mound builders who were abundant in central and southern Ohio, but who were not considered to have occupied this area.

The blades were made from Flint Ridge material and of the finest workmanship and range in color from milky white to translucent. They were found about four feet below the surface in a vertical position.

Five area men and women were among 54 seniors graduated Friday at Geneva College at Beaver Falls.

They included Keith H. Dunlevy, a 1947 graduate of East Liverpool High School, and Mrs. Clarence Harrington of Phoenix Ave., Chester; a teacher at the LaCroft School.

Dunlevy, a 1947 graduate of East Liverpool High School, and Mrs. Harrington will receive bachelor degrees in education.

Others graduated were Janet Kibler of New Galilee, bachelor degrees in science and arts, and Mrs. Wilma Glasgow and Mrs. Diane Inman, both of Darlington, degrees in education.

Spahn Wins 300th Game; Yanks Stretch AL Lead To 4

Reds Behind 1 1/2; Bucs Blank Phils

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tough games? Warren Spahn has pitched plenty of them. Remember the next to last day of the 1956 season? He pitched his heart out and lost 2-1 in 12 innings at St. Louis—and the loss knocked Milwaukee out of the National League pennant. That same season he won No. 200—and he had to go 11 innings to nail it, 4-3 over Philadelphia. Tough games? Maybe so. But none, Spahn confesses, was as tough as the one he won Friday night. That was No. 300, a six-hit spine-tingler as the 40-year-old wonder beat the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and became the 13th pitcher ever to win 300 in the majors' an achievement managed by only two other left-handers. To do it, Spahn had to knock in the first run himself, with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly, and out-duel Jack Curtis, a kid southpaw who was a 5-year-old when Spahn pitched his first game for the Braves in 1942. It wasn't decided until Gino Cimoli hit a home run in the eighth inning. Spahn's success overshadowed the pennant race, in which San Francisco beat second-place Cincinnati and dropped the Reds 1 1/2 games behind the idle Los Angeles Dodgers. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-0 in a game called after 6-1-3 innings because of rain—and officially eliminated the last place Phils from the race with their 78th defeat, their 14th in a row.

"This was the toughest game I ever pitched," a smiling, seat-spahn admitted amidst the cameras and champagne in Milwaukee's County Stadium. Ernie Banks, the Cubs' ailing slugger, pinch hit with two out in the ninth and reached first on a throwing error by third baseman Ed Mathews. Jim McNamany then batted for Curtis (7-7) and Spahn got him on a soft fly for the last out. The Giants, after blowing a 1-0 lead, broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth on a two-run single by Orlando Cepeda. Left-hander Jim O'Toole (11-9), who singled for the Reds' runs in the fifth, was the loser. Juan Marichal (10-7), a right-hander, was the winner. Bob Clemente drove in two runs with a double and a home run for the Pirates, who roughed up Robin Roberts (1-9) on his return from the disabled list with a five-run first inning. Bob Friend (12-13) was the winner.

City Softball Playoffs Set

Pairings were made today for the double elimination playoffs in the City Softball League opening Sunday at Dopler Field. East End Merchants, league champions, oppose the Owls Club in the first game at 2 p.m. Sunday. Wellsville Merchants and Gallagher's will meet in the second game at 6 p.m. Sunday. The winner of the Wellsville-Gallagher's game will clash with American Vitified Products Monday night at 6:30. East End and AVP will play an incomplete game Sunday at 1:30 at Dopler Field. If East End triumphs, a tie will exist for second place in the league between AVP and Wellsville. A game Sunday at 4 at Dopler Field will be played to decide the second place team. In action Friday night, the Wellsville Merchants shut out East End, 7-0, as Sam Ratkovich hurled a one-hitter, facing only 24 batters and allowing only one runner to reach second base. Ratkovich fanned six and walked one. Hulme ruined his bid for a no-hitter with a single. Gene Talbott was the losing pitcher. Bob Boston led Wellsville with two home runs and a single, while Jack Call smashed three singles and Williams singled and doubled.

Clinic Slated Sunday At Columbiana Links

A golf exhibition and clinic featuring Ed Furgol and Lew Worsham will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Copeland Hills Golf Club on Route 164, two miles south of Columbiana. The clinic will be followed by nine holes of matched play. The two professionals are former winners of the U.S. Open.

Trap Shoot Set

The Midland Sportsmen's Club will hold a registered trapshoot Sunday at noon on the club farm, two miles north of Midland. Events include 16-yard handicap and doubles. Refreshments will be available at the club hall. All registered shooters may attend, along with spectators.

Weiskopf, 18, Snares Ohio's Publix Golf

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — A tall, willowy 18-year-old who took his first golf lessons from his mother, today reigned as Ohio's public links champion. Blonde Tom Weiskopf, a shy Ohio State sophomore from Maple Heights near Cleveland, won the

The upstate youngster fired a 72-hole total of 284, four under par for the Elms Country Club layout—coming from far off the pace to nip the early leader, Lulu Sabotin, former prize fighter and now a 31-year-old fire department lieutenant, opened with a 65 to Weiskopf's 72. The youngster's second round 67 left him two behind at the halfway mark, and he surged ahead by a stroke with a third round 72, and held the edge with a closing 73. Bernie Allemen, 31-year-old physical education teacher from Akron, took third place with an even par 288. Tied for third were 46-year-old Art Todd, the 1939 champion from Columbus, and 21-year-old Don Stickey, another Ohio State sophomore from Columbus.

ANOTHER MILESTONE. A happy Warren Spahn, 13th major league pitcher to win 300 games and the first to do so since 1941, posed with a big "300" sign in the locker room after taming the Chicago Cubs, 2-1, Friday night at Milwaukee. Spahn broke in with the old Boston Braves in 1942, the season after Lefty Grove won his 300th, the last time it happened until Spahn did it. (UPI Photo)

Laughs At Father Time

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee Braves' pitching marvel, laughed at Father Time and set his goals higher today as a member of baseball's exclusive 300-victory club. The 40-year-old southpaw wonder became the 13th hurler in major league history to achieve victory No. 300 Friday night as he edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1 on a masterful six-hitter. "I'm going to stay active as long as possible," Spahn said before heading for a party attended by teammates and friends. "My next goal is to win 20 games this year—and I'm going to have to go some with only 12 so far." Spahn joined Plank and Lefty Grove, the only living member of the "300" set, as the only southpaw to reach the lofty mark. Grove, reported seriously ill, was the last pitcher to win 300. Spahn said that the tension mounted as he received scores of calls and telegrams throughout the day. "About six o'clock tonight I wished it was game time," he said. "Then along in the late innings I knew they were saving Ernie Banks for me. The tension mounts and after a while it begins to get you. I was never happier than when that final out came."

Lions Blast Browns, 35-7

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions blitzed the Cleveland Browns for three touchdowns in the second quarter Friday night and went on to win a 35-7 decision in the opening exhibition game of the season for both National Football League clubs. There was further grief for the Browns in the second period when Gene Hickerson, a veteran guard from Mississippi, suffered a broken leg in a collision with Jim Martin. He will be sidelined for an indefinite period. Quarterback Earl Morrall, who came in after Jim Ninowski failed to put any spark in the Lions' attack, engineered the drive that put the game out of reach of the Browns. He threw touchdown passes of 50 and 22 yards to Terry Barr and then dropped a 16-yard scoring pass into the arms of Jim Gibbons. The Lions made it 28-0 in the third period when Roger Brown ran a pass interception back to the Cleveland three and then Warren Rabb passed two yards to Gail Cogdill for the score. Tom Watkins, a rookie from Iowa State, scored Cleveland's only touchdown on a one-yard plunge which capped a 74-yard drive in the third quarter. The marker was set up by Bobby Mitchell on a 28-yard run to the Detroit two.

Longshot Double Of 7-2 Pays $243 At Waterford

A longshot daily double returned $243.60 with a number combination of 7-2 Friday at Waterford Park. Chic Maluna, winner of the first race, returned $27, $21.80 and $29.60, while Formal Pose came on with a late rush from far behind to capture the second, returning $15, $6.40 and $4.60. Other longshot winners were Revelation in the fifth, paying $25.40, and Ed F in the ninth, returning $32.20. Jockey C. South Wins In All-Star Game, 14-6

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — After three straight defeats, the southern all-stars were back on top today in the North - South High School All-Star Football Game. The alert Rebels, irked at being rated underdogs, converted a pair of breaks into fourth-quarter touchdowns Friday night to trim the Yankees 14-6 in the 16th annual contest before about 14,500 fans in Fawcett Stadium. It may have been the last all-star game of the series. If it was, the annual and colorful classic bowed out in a blaze of pyrotechnics. After three full quarters of tugging, during which neither team showed a scoring punch and only nine first downs had been made, the South broke it open with less than a minute of the final session gone. With the ball on its own 19-yard line, the North faked a line plunge but threw a pass. Dayton Roosevelt's John Henderson, a 6-4 end who is headed for Michigan, intercepted on the 30 and went in untouched for the first score. Two minutes later, after the North had taken the ball on downs on the six-inch line, the South struck again. North quarterback Ray Sanfrey of Niles, who had thrown the pass captured by Henderson, fumbled on the three, and the Rebels recovered. Troy's Tom Vaughn hit center for the touchdown, Bill Portis of Zanesville ran for a two-point conversion, and the South had it wrapped up by 14-0.

With less than three minutes to go Springfield South's Tom Fugate fumbled a punt when hit hard by three Yankees, and substitute quarterback John Bukky of Madison Memorial recovered for the North on the 16. Bukky immediately passed to Alliance's Charles King in the end zone for the North's lone points. Henderson, who caught four passes from quarterback Bill Gains of Dayton Colonel White for 84 yards in addition to his other standout feats, was named the game's most valuable player. The outcome left the North with an 8-6 edge in the series. Future of the annual game is uncertain. The NCAA has decreed that boys participating in such contests, unless the game has the approval of the state high school athletic association, must forfeit a year of collegiate eligibility. Ohio's state board approved Friday night's game, but has declined to act on future ones. Paul Warfield of Warren, now a bright Ohio State prospect, received a trophy as last year's most valuable player, and Wilbur Charles Leatherberry, a non-grinder from Hanoverton, Ohio, received the $1,000 college scholarship granted by the game sponsors. He'll use it as a law student at Western Reserve.

'M-Boys' Smash HRs; Tigers Fall

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mickey Mantle has his 44th home run, and Roger Maris finally belted No. 42, but the New York Yankees' home run hero of the moment is Earl Battey—who does his work for the Minnesota Twins. It was a pair of home runs by the Twins' catcher that beat Detroit 2-1 Friday night and dropped the second-place Tigers four games behind New York in the American League race, after Mantle and Maris had unloaded in a 12-5 breeze at Washington. Mickey's home run, his first since last Sunday, put him 14 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace in 1927. Maris, hitting his first in eight games, is 11 games ahead of the Babe. Baltimore smacked Boston 6-3, Cleveland defeated Los Angeles 3-2 and the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 1-0. Battey's 12th home run of the season broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning for the Twins and made Pete Ramos (9-13) a winner in his duel with Paul Foytack (7-7). Each right-hander allowed six hits. The Yankees, after scoring twice in the first inning, made it

Calvary, Free Methodists Tied For Loop Lead

Calvary Methodist won in a rout and First Free Methodist triumphed in a close game to pull even in the race for first place in the YMCA Church Softball League Friday. The victories gave the two squads identical 13-1 records, best in the league. Action ends Aug. 22 in a battle between the two leaders. Calvary romped over St. Ann's, 25-4, as pitcher Bob Fry won his 13th game of the season, fanning three and yielding seven hits. A close game seemed assured until the fifth inning when Calvary sent 16 batters to the plate in scoring 12 runs on 10 hits—including eight in a row — to take command of a huge lead. The winners also splurged in the seventh, sending 13 batters to the plate and scoring nine more runs. Leading the Calvary attack were Bob McGaffick with two singles and a pair of doubles, Jim Dickey, three singles and a three-run homer, John Fitzjohn, a single and his eighth and ninth homers of the season, and Don Menough, a single and two-run homer. Six players shared in St. Ann's seven-hit attack. First Free Methodist edged First Methodist, 4-1, with John Clendenning hurling the victory. Dale Mobley had two hits for First Free Methodist, and Crow and Jones hit safely twice for the losers. Glenn Davis, two-time Olympic 400-meter hurdle champion from Ohio State, is being groomed as a pass receiver with the Detroit Lions. He played briefly last year and caught one pass.

City Youth Receives Detention In 3 Cases

Carl Wayne Rockwood, 17, of 215 Thompson Ave. was sentenced to detention until Oct. 10 in traffic hearings at the Courthouse on three charges — reckless operation, driving without a permit and failing to obey an officer. The State Highway Patrol said he attempted to outrun a cruiser.

The permit of Arthur John Davis, 17, of East Palestine was suspended for 30 days for driving without license plates on his car and that of Sandra Rae Smith, 17, of Canfield 60 days for driving while under suspension. Her mother, Elsie Smith, was fined $50 for allowing her daughter to drive.

Thomas Lee Eddy, 17, of Salem R.D. 2 was fined $15 for failing to signal a turn and Kenneth John Klusch, 17, of Alliance, $5 for illegal parking.

Wellsville Autoist Among Trio Fined

Three motorists, including a Wellsville man, were fined Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon for speeding. Six others forfeited appearance bonds.

Ronald D. Tice, 25, of 807 Lisbon St., Wellsville; Henry D. Smith Jr., 30, of Salem R.D. 3, and Bert W. Dickerson, 20, of East Palestine were fined $5 and costs each. Forfeits were:

James C. Andrews, 34, of Warren, $25 for reckless operation, and Matthew F. Conard, 35, of Lorain, Paul R. Forstey, 33, of Alliance, Stanley Gusevic, 39, of Euclid, Roland M. Sprowl, 30, of Irontide and Eugene R. Green, 32, of Warren, $15 each for speeding. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Bermans Sue City, Sewer Contractor

Suit for $10,000 was filed in Common Pleas Court Friday by Gilbert M. Berman and H. B. Berman of East Liverpool, claiming damages to their property as a result of a sewer project.

The city and John Sikora of the Sikora Brothers Excavating Co., of Poland are defendants. The Bermans claim the contractor, installing a new sanitary sewer, broke a storm sewer and the water undermined the footings of their buildings and garages on W. 9th St., causing the structures to settle and crack.

$2,000 Damage Set In Truck Accident

About $2,000 damage resulted to a tractor-trailer when it jackknifed Friday on Route 30 near Clinton.

The Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said Walter David Owen, 38, of Killbuck, Ohio, the driver, received abrasions of his left leg in the accident about three miles west of Clinton.

The truck jackknifed when the driver lost control and the rig ran off the road, striking several trees.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is the best way of clinching nails?

A. A clinched nail will hold better and won't sag if the point is buried in the wood. Drive your nail just part way through the wood until about one-half inch shows on the other side, and then hammer that half-inch flat. Then finish driving your nail on through, and hammer over the nail to embed its point in the wood. For the best grip, bend the nail across the grain — and for a smooth surface, bend it with the grain.

Q. How can I detect a leak in a gas pipe?

A. At the point where a leak in the gas pipe is suspected, apply a paste of soap and water. If there is a leak, bubbles will appear. Never use matches or a flame of any kind when looking for a gas leak.

Q. How can I give the fingernail polish a higher gloss?

A. Apply the polish and then go over the whole fingernail with a coat of colorless polish. It will give a higher gloss, a neater finish, and will last longer.

Q. How can I smooth out the normally rough edges of plywood?

A. You can usually do this nicely with some ordinary linoleum paste. Most brands of such paste shrink very little in drying and can be sanded to a smooth, hard finish. However, if the plywood is to be finished in a natural color, apply the cement carefully, since it possibly could stain the wood.

Q. How can I remove the film which adheres to the inside of a basin or saucenpan in which paraffin has been melted?

A. Fill the utensil with boiling water. When the water has cooled, the paraffin will be found floating on the surface.

Benjamin West was the first American painter of international fame.

100 At Shows In Wellsville

About 100 persons attended the pet shows at Wellsville's four playgrounds Thursday evening. There were about 60 entries. Winners included:

6th St. — Jerry Williamson, Esther Grimm and Randy Householder, largest pets; Jimmy O'Neill, Virginia McKinnon and Mary Alice Thrasher, most original, and Charlotte Urte, Renee O'Neill and Peggy Mercer, most attractive.

10th St. — Chris Thornton and Jim Young, largest; Christie Whitaker and Glenn Bender, smallest, and Patricia McCune and Candace Steffen, most unusual.

20th St. — Bobbie Boley, Jimmy McPeak, largest; Ruth Ensigner, Margaret Morris and Carl Wilcox, most attractive, and David Brown, Keith Edmondson and Steven Carr, most unusual.

McKinley — Cathy Hammond, Kitty Daniels and Mecca Yanko, most attractive; Alice Daniels, Treva Daniels and Kathy Stewart, largest, and Ricky Wright and Rosemary Scarbino, most unusual.

The shows were sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, which provided the cash awards. Winners were also presented ribbons by the playground directors.

Charles Wilfing and Cedric Stanway were co-chairmen.

3 Men To Face Grand Jury For Numbers Hassle

An Ambridge man and two Harmony Township brothers have been bound to the Grand Jury after entering innocent pleas to charges involving firearms resulting from a dispute over the alleged non-payment of $3,600 on a $6 numbers "hit."

Alfred MacCaglia of Ambridge, charged with pointing a deadly weapon, and Dante Bufalini and Namod Bufalini, cited for possession of firearms, waived preliminary hearings Thursday before Justice of the Peace Zenobia Jurkowski.

Dante Bufalini and his wife, Elizabeth, also waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of operating a lottery.

According to authorities, MacCaglia claimed he had "hit" last week on a $6 play but was told the play was only for $3. He went to the Bufalini home and attempted to get the $3,600 at gunpoint.

When police investigated, they arrested MacCaglia and also arrested the Bufalini brothers after finding two revolvers in their car. The one brother and his wife also were arrested on the lottery charge.

Rights Demonstrators Fail In Wisconsin Bid

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators, who have been sitting in the rotunda of Wisconsin's Capitol for 13 days and nights prepared today to fold up their chairs and go home.

The demonstrators failed to win approval of legislation they were supporting but their leaders expressed satisfaction that the sit-in had brought attention to their problem.

The legislature slammed the door Friday on the last hope held by the demonstrators for favorable action on civil rights' bills supported by the group.

Bills aimed at prohibiting racial discrimination in public housing programs and to increase the power of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights were killed as both houses rushed through their business in the hopes of recessing today until next fall.

200 Form Blockade In Trucking Protest

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A city truck loaded with hot ashes early today led 65 trucks hauling dirt from the mall excavation in downtown Cleveland through a human blockade of some 200 persons thrown across a dirt road leading to the dumping area in the Garden Valley project.

Angry residents, protesting the late operation of the trucks, threw rocks at the vehicles and at policemen assisting them through the blockade. A number of arrests were made. Several police cars were damaged.

Wellsville Bids Will Be Studied

The Wellsville Board of Control may award contracts Tuesday for construction of a building at the city's sewage disposal plant and purchase of a new truck for the water department.

Bids were opened Friday noon by William S. Robinson, safety-service director.

John McCauley of Box 30, Wellsville, a masonry contractor, bid $1,354 for material and $1,260 for labor, total of $2,614, and Clarence E. Thompson of Hillcrest Rd., bid $2,384.54 for construction of the cement-block building.

Bids for the water department truck were filed by Wells Motors of Wellsville, $2,731.02 for a 1961 model Ford, Ideal Chevrolet of Wellsville, $2,995 for a 1962-model, and Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool, $2,924 for a 1962-model GMC.

The board, comprised of Mayor William Shoub and Robinson, took the bids under advisement.

Publicity Man Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles H. Williams, 58, in charge of West Coast publicity for Newsweek magazine and a former newspaperman in his native Chicago and New York, died in a hospital Friday after an operation.

A major general in the Army is higher in rank than a rear admiral in the Navy.

Honored For Tennis Aid

Lions Club Gives Plaque To W. Leland Thompson

A plaque commending him for his "interest and contributions to the game of tennis" was presented to W. Leland Thompson at the luncheon of the Lions Club Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Players in the tournament sponsored by the club last weekend at the Thompson Park suggested and purchased the plaque to show their appreciation of Thompson's role in establishing the new courts.

The plaque was presented to Thompson by Laurin Stacey, tournament chairman, who reported the club and city received much favorable publicity from the tournament. John Smith, co-chairman, also spoke briefly.

Because Dick VanEerden of Calcutta, manager of the Stevenson Co. of Wellsville, was unable to appear, an impromptu debate was held on the advantages and disadvantages of the new city freeway. Van Eerden will speak Friday, William McWhorter, program chairman, said.

Favoring the freeway were Smith and George McCullough

2 Midland Area Men Chosen As Airport Advisors

Two Midland area men have been appointed to a five-man Beaver County Airport Commission to serve in an advisory capacity to Beaver County commissioners.

Named to the commission were Carl Kolbach of Industry R. D. 1, an Allegheny Airlines pilot, and T. C. Albaugh of Tuscarawas Rd., traffic manager of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and a former Army officer.

Also appointed were Harry E. Strouss, former member of the Air Transport Command, and Jack Kelly, a merchant and pilot, both of Beaver Falls, and Joseph H. Moore of Aliquippa, a former member of the Air National Guard.

Establishment of the commission was recommended by John W. McFarlane, director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, who made a recent study of the airport problems.

The initial meeting of the commission is scheduled tentatively Tuesday noon at the Penn-Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

Niles Airman Killed In 'Ejection' Error

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—An American airman was killed when, apparently by accident, he touched off the automatic ejection seat of a parked jet fighter Thursday and was blown from the cockpit.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the victim, Airman 2.C. Bruce R. Jones, 19, of Niles, Ohio, was off duty at the time. Jones was hurled from the seat of the F100 jet onto the concrete ramp at Bangkok's Don Muang military airport. He died of a skull fracture.

The death was classified as accidental but an investigation is continuing, the embassy spokesman said.

Jones was assigned to the 13th Air Force based in Japan. He was in Bangkok on temporary training duty.

Businessman Dies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—E. W. Bonfield, 89, pioneer in the fiber box industry and retired sales manager of American Box Board Co., died Friday. He was a native of Kankakee, Ill.

Long Illness Fatal

CHICAGO (AP)—Sidney T. Jessop, 72, chairman of the U.S. Tent Co. and former president of the Showmen's League of America, died in a hospital Friday after a long illness.

Woman, 2 Men Get Stay Of Execution

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Elizabeth Ann Duncan, 56, and the two men convicted with her in the jealousy slaying of her daughter-in-law may have at least 120 days to fight for their lives. They had been scheduled to die Wednesday.

The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday granted stay of execution to Mrs. Duncan. Later the U.S. District Court delayed the executions of Augustine Baldonado, 27, and Luis Moya, 22.

The off-ward gray-haired mother who loved her son so much she wouldn't share him with another woman was saved—at least temporarily—from the San Quentin Prison gas chamber by the son, Frank, 32, a Los Angeles attorney, and lawyer Arthur A. Warner.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Elizabeth Ann Duncan, 56, and the two men convicted with her in the jealousy slaying of her daughter-in-law may have at least 120 days to fight for their lives. They had been scheduled to die Wednesday.

The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday granted stay of execution to Mrs. Duncan. Later the U.S. District Court delayed the executions of Augustine Baldonado, 27, and Luis Moya, 22.

The off-ward gray-haired mother who loved her son so much she wouldn't share him with another woman was saved—at least temporarily—from the San Quentin Prison gas chamber by the son, Frank, 32, a Los Angeles attorney, and lawyer Arthur A. Warner.

FRANCIS GARY POWERS, the young American U-2 pilot, was tried and convicted in Moscow a year ago this week and sentenced to 10 years' confinement for espionage.

The trial was a Soviet "spectacular." Later, the Red government published the word-for-word trial record in book form; it was translated into every language for global distribution.

Significantly, they did not title the book, The Trial of Francis Gary Powers. They called it The Trial of the U-2—making the real defendant the United States, which had sent U-2 planes high over the Soviet Union carrying photographic and electronic reconnaissance equipment.

"One of the principal themes not only of the indictment but also of the trial and the verdict," notes Harvard Professor Harold J. Berman, a distinguished American authority on Soviet law, "was the condemnation of aerial reconnaissance by the United States as a violation of international law and an act of aggression."

What the Soviets wanted was not necessarily to punish Powers but to arouse world-wide fears and pressures which would force the U.S. to stop the

After receiving a 10-year sentence for spying, Powers reunites briefly with wife and parents.

U-2 flights. They feared the "eye in the sky." The U-2s had been with them for four years, giving them an intolerable sense of insecurity.

The record of the Powers trial shows evidence of careful staging and planning. Powers was in Soviet hands from May 1, 1960, to mid-August of that year before he appeared in court.

He does not appear to have been mistreated or "brainwashed," but there was plenty of time for him to be so thoroughly questioned that his answers became almost automatic. The Soviets even went to the length of using the Western system of direct examination of each witness by one lawyer, followed by cross-examination by the other. This is contrary to normal Soviet practice, in which the judges examine the defendant and the witnesses, followed by supplementary questions from counsel. No doubt the intent was to give observers the impression of a fair trial.

That may be why Professor Berman was invited to write a 30-page introductory comment to The Trial of the U-2—with results which don't appear to have been too satisfactory from the Soviet viewpoint, since the introduction has been omitted from later printings of the book!

The Soviet system of legal procedure, Berman says, has been much improved since the "crude melodrama of the purge trials of the 1930s." It is a less brutally overt system, with more attention to the rights of the accused; yet it remains a system for using law as a political instrument of policy rather than as a control on policy.

In conversation with me, Berman strongly expressed the view that the U.S. should have sought to defend Powers, should have exhausted every resource to see that he had American counsel.

Berman points out that Powers was held "incommunicado" for 3½ months prior to trial, during which time no American had contact with him, much less the U. S. Embassy; that the preliminary investigation of his case was not conducted by legal authorities of any kind, but by the secret police; that he was not allowed the assistance of counsel during this time.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE TRIAL OF THE U-2 PILOT

One year ago, a Russian court found Francis Gary Powers guilty—but who was really tried and what was proved? Only now are we learning the answers

By GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

Did Powers betray his country? In Professor Berman's opinion, shared by other knowledgeable people, Powers did pretty much what he had been ordered to do in case of capture: he told the Russians everything they already knew or were likely to find out. But regarding one point of his testimony, there is some question: he tacitly admitted being "shot down" by a Soviet rocket while flying at an altitude of 68,000 feet. The Soviet prosecutor was insistent on this point, but this writer has been unable to find any American authority who believes the Soviets have anti-aircraft rockets which can reach a target at such height.

The common view among U.S. airmen is that Powers had an engine failure—a "flame-out"—and had to descend into denser air to try to restart his engine. In doing this, he came within their reach.

Possibly Powers agreed to allow a contrary impression to be drawn from his testimony as the price of his life—under Soviet law he could have been sent before a firing squad.

Professor Berman believes that Khrushchev wanted the Powers case "handled correctly, with strict legality"—with this qualification: "As long as Powers testifies that he was shot down at 68,000 feet." It was vital to the image of invincibility which the Soviets seek to present that they "prove" their rockets could reach that height.

Meanwhile, what is happening to Powers? He is in a Soviet prison cell, where he must stay for three years from the date of his capture. After that, he faces seven years in a "collective labor colony." He becomes eligible for parole after having served two-thirds of his sentence. Of course, the Reds can release him any time if it suits their purpose.

There have been reports that we are dickering with the Soviets to "trade" Powers for the Soviet spy Rudolph Abel, now serving a 30-year sentence here. These reports were officially denied, which may mean much or little; such a trade remains a possibility if the Kremlin sees any advantage in it.

Officially, too, the answer is "No comment" to inquiries about how Powers might be received here, if and when he does get back. Berman, who has good sources of information, thinks U. S. authorities feel that Powers behaved properly.

But official reticence should not cause Americans to forget that Francis Gary Powers did, before misfortune overtook him, make a considerable contribution to the U-2 operation. The U-2 was not a "blunder," as it has been called. Considered as a whole, the U-2 operation was one of America's major cold-war victories.

Some day it may be possible to let the people of this country know how much of their national security is owed to the pilots who for four years prowled the Soviet skies and came home with vital information that could never have been obtained in any other way or at any lesser risk.

It's a glamorous, exciting life, this hopscotching from one exotic spot to another. But glamour isn't what Charlton and Lydia Heston are seeking. They are intelligent parents with a young son to consider. The advantages and drawbacks of a nomad's life have to be weighed on that scale.

One advantage is that they can do almost everything together. With their usual friends far away, Lydia and Fraser spend much of their time with Chuck on the set.

Languages are another plus. Charlton Heston now gets along in at least three languages—and he's not the only one. "By the time we left Rome," he says, "Fraser knew as much Italian as he did English. Now he's picking up Spanish."

FORMAL SCHOOLING for their son goes on the other side of the scale. "Just now," Heston says, "Fraser is missing the first semester of kindergarten by being here—which is abnormal. But it would be far more abnormal to do without his father's company for eight months."

Besides, formal schooling is not the only way to gain knowledge. "El Cid" is giving Fraser a complete education in the Spain of the 11th century. It has been recreated before his eyes, down to the last tiny detail. For instance, costumes were carefully copied from examples in archives, ancient Spanish manuscripts, and fabrics found in the tombs of Saracen warriors.

"As a result," Heston says, "Fraser knows a lot about the history of medieval Spain. He knows who the Cid was, for example, whom he fought, why he remained faithful to his king—the whole story."

Fraser has become such an expert that he gives his mother lessons. One day, Lydia was driving Fraser to an "El Cid" location. Another movie company was filming nearby. Suddenly Mrs. Heston spotted armored knights charging across a field. "This must be where Daddy is shooting," she said.

"No, it can't be," Fraser explained. "Those men are wearing plate armor."

"There are not many kids Fraser's age who even know what plate armor is," Heston grins proudly, "let alone that it hadn't been invented in the 11th century."

Fraser's exposure to the Cid hasn't changed him much. "He wants to be a cowboy," Chuck says. "He wanted to be an 11th-century knight once, but only briefly—the cowboy thing is permanent."

Chuck Heston usually smiles when Fraser is mentioned—a wide, angular smile he doesn't often use on-screen. Most of his big roles are serious. And nearly all of them are set far in the past.

"I seem to have a face that belongs earlier than the 20th century," he says. "Perhaps the further back, the better."

But Charlton Heston isn't complaining, even about the drawbacks in his current nomadic existence. His whole life has been aimed at getting precisely where he is now.

Chuck Heston was five years old when he first went on the stage, 32 years ago. He has never considered doing anything else. He was graduated from New Trier, a suburban Chicago high school noted for its drama program. He concentrated on drama at Northwestern University. He married an actress, whom he met in drama class. They acted together often until Hollywood captured Chuck from the theater and television.

ONE OF THE FRUITS of his success is a $150,000-plus dream home. It's in Hollywood's Coldwater Canyon, which is a long, long way from Spain. In fact, Heston's magnificent house has been empty almost constantly since it was finished.

Three days after the Hestons moved in, they moved out again to do a Broadway play. They've lived in the house only five months, and Chuck interrupted those months for business trips to Japan, Australia, and France. "We've had our house for a year and a half," Heston says, "and we haven't even had a chance to wear the newness off."

Still, on balance, the Charlton Hestons would not swap their wanderers' life for anything. The drawbacks are real, but so are the advantages. "Apart from anything else," Heston says, "Lydia and I simply love new places."

With more and more international producers bidding for Heston's talents, the couple is likely to live in a worldful of new places for years to come.

Between film assignments, Charlton, his wife Lydia, and son Fraser live in Hollywood.

"The Holy Spirit Will Dwell With You"

These words from the Gospel should have a mighty effect upon the heart and mind of every living Christian.

Yet the nature, the power and the function of the Holy Spirit are not always clearly understood by many devout and sincere believers. Many, for example, disagree with the Catholic doctrine of three Persons in one God. And even though the Gospel says so, not all will agree that Christ departed this world promising the completion of His mission through the Holy Spirit.

But even if you cannot accept the Catholic belief, which dates back to the infancy of Christendom, the Gospel should impress you with the numerous evidences of the power of the Holy Spirit to inspire and strengthen your Christian faith.

Every Christian is familiar, of course, with the words of the angel Gabriel foretelling Mary of the coming birth of Christ: "The Holy Spirit shall come upon thee." And the same angelic promise to the Old Testament prophet Zachary, that he was to be blessed with a son named John (John the Baptist) and "he shall be filled with the Holy Spirit."

Later, in baptizing Jesus, John tells of seeing the Spirit coming down "as a dove from heaven" and descending upon Our Lord, "and I saw, and I gave testimony, that this is the Son of God." And Jesus, in giving the baptismal formula His disciples were to use, instructed them to "Go teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."

The relationship of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit to one another is one of the great mysteries of the Christian religion. But there is no doubt about the important relationship of the Holy Spirit to ourselves.

In His instructions to the disciples, who were to carry on His ministry and establish His church, Jesus promised that the Father "will give you another Advocate to dwell with you forever." This Advocate, whom Our Lord specifically called The Holy Spirit, "will teach you all things, and bring to your mind whatever I have said to you."

The coming of the Holy Spirit upon the Apostles is described in the Acts of the Apostles. It was upon this occasion, Catholics believe, that the Church was born and the Apostles confirmed in grace for the accomplishment of their mission.

Christ promised that the Father and He Himself would come to the hearts of men through the Holy Spirit. It is imperative, therefore, for Christians to understand the relationship between the divine Persons, and between the Holy Spirit and ourselves. This is clearly explained in a pamphlet which we will send you free on request... a pamphlet which reveals how wondrously the Holy Spirit can influence your spiritual life. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. FM-60. It will come in a plain wrapper; nobody will call on you.

MOVIES

For his latest movie, "El Cid," Charlton Heston readily packed up his household and located in Madrid, Spain.

Home Is Where the Hestons Are

Charlton Heston and his family live in Spain, Italy, Egypt—wherever there's a new epic to be filmed

By C. GREGORY JENSEN

A TRUMPET sounded thin and high, and the gates of the bull ring in Castellón de la Plana creaked open in the bright Spanish sun. Out onto the hard-packed sand rode Hollywood star Charlton Heston.

This was the real thing, not a movie scene. Heston pranced his white stallion across the ring, doffed his novillero's hat to el presidente, and side-stepped his mount around the ring. Then he joined his family to watch the bullfights.

Even for the Charlton Hestons, this was not an ordinary way to spend a Sunday.

Yet, it's more ordinary for the Hestons than for most American families. By now, they're used to strange things in strange places—like a good-will appearance at the season's first bullfight in a Spanish town.

For "Chuck" Heston is typical of that new breed of movie stars which lives by the motto: "Have household, will travel."

For them, home is where the spectacular is. "When I go alone," says Heston, "I live out of a suitcase. But when there's a big job and Lydia and Fraser come along, we pack the whole shootin' match."

"El Cid" is one of those big jobs. Charlton Heston stars with Sophia Loren in this massive, $7-million epic about Spain's greatest hero. The movie was made in the Cid's own country, and it required eight months to film.

So during those eight months, "home" for Chuck Heston, his wife Lydia, and their six-year-old son Fraser was a Madrid apartment or a hotel near Castellón.

Before that, home was a villa near Rome. The Hestons lived there more than 10 months while Chuck made "Ben-Hur"—for which he won an Academy Award. Before that, he spent a year and a half in Egypt filming "The Ten Commandments."

Your Trouble May Be as Plain as the Nose on Your Face

By TERRY MORRIS

UNTIL RECENTLY, cosmetic surgery to alter an unattractive nose was the special preserve of actresses, models, or entertainers. But nowadays, an estimated 30,000 to 50,000 rhinoplasties are being performed each year, and while the largest group of patients are 16- to 19-year-old girls, their middle-aged mothers, and occasionally even grandmothers, are undergoing nose revision.

Is vanity the only reason, or are there deeper motivations for voluntarily undergoing the discomfort and expense involved in such cosmetic surgery?

For one thing, while we know that people vary greatly in their ability to tolerate a deformity, very few people can avoid severe emotional trauma if they have a deformity which is as impossible to conceal as a nose.

A leading plastic surgeon explains: "It is not empty vanity that drives them to the decision. We find that the majority of our patients seek the contrary effect. They want to be inconspicuous, they want to rid themselves of the feeling of being conspicuous because of an ugly or unattractive feature."

The case of a 17-year-old girl, whom we will call Ellen R., is typical of most rhinoplasty patients. "What a pity," people remarked of her, "that Ellen doesn't look like her mother!"

Her younger sister had the good fortune to inherit her mother's features, but Ellen was a "rubber stamp" of her father. Along with his fine eyes and well-shaped head, she had his nose, too—a strong, bold masculine nose which was quite all right for him but not for a young girl.

The painful self-consciousness began when she was 13 and a classmate blurted: "Gosh, Ellen, you've got a big nose!" She was growing up all over, but Ellen felt her nose was outrunning the rest of her. Often, seated at her dressing table, she would turn her profile to the mirror and with her finger tip experiment with turning her nose up and back to shorten it, and ironing out the bump.

In class or on buses, Ellen twisted about in her seat to avoid presenting herself in profile. At parties and dances, she tried always to be seen fullface even if her movements appeared clumsy and awkward. Often, these maneuvers so distracted her that she seemed inattentive and even rude.

Although she had always been a good student, gradually her marks began to slip. "I don't understand," her father said. "You've always got your nose buried in a book, yet your last report card was the worst you've ever had."

If only, Ellen thought despairingly, I could bury my nose in a book! But in the classroom or library, she only pretended to read while she covertly inspected the other girls' profiles.

One day she voiced a growing desire. "Mother, I've had my teeth straightened and a permanent wave for my hair. Why can't I have my nose fixed, too?"

Her mother approved, but her father refused to hear of it. "I love my girl the way

B., "is that I waited so long for it."

Her mother wanted the operation for Martha when she was 15, but surgical techniques were not so advanced then. As her self-consciousness increased and barred her from a full social life, Martha began to suffer crippling inferiority feelings which made her irritable and hostile.

"I was convinced that when people were friendly to me they were only acting out of pity," Martha recalls. "I felt their eyes were focused on this nose of mine, and I wanted them to leave me alone. But when they took the hint and left, I was miserable."

Leaving Misery Behind

What Martha experienced is outlined in a recent study of a large number of rhinoplasty patients. "They develop a severe generalized constriction of the ego," the report states. "They are constricted in bodily movements, in the flow of their attention, in their ability to relate warmly to other human beings, and in their ability to concentrate on their work."

Martha's decision to have a rhinoplasty coincided with her 30th birthday. Within eight months of the operation, her personality had changed so radically that she received three proposals of marriage.

"I'm happy with the proposal I accepted," she says, "and if the baby I hope to have someday turns out to have a nose like my old one, you can be sure there's going to be action taken, just as soon as possible!"

Rhinoplasty for young girls and unmarried women may help in the marriage market, but the operation also is being performed on large numbers of middle-aged women who are wives and mothers. Why an operation if a woman has lived successfully with an unattractive nose for 40- or 50-odd years?

The case of 44-year-old Susan M. shows how unresolved conflicts of adolescence may be buried over the years—but not quite deep enough.

"In the first place," Susan points out, "I was always unhappy about my nose. I wasn't inhibited by it especially, but it bothered me."

A busy life as mother of two children and as her husband's business partner left her little time to worry over it. She settled for a conservative hair-do and quiet clothes and was carried along by the momentum of her activities. Anyway, there was always something else to spend extra funds on—like straightening the children's teeth.

"And then," she says, "my daughter was married and my son was in college. I was hit by the middle-aged doldrums of not being needed or wanted anymore. I began to take a closer look at myself, inside and outside. If I could really feel attractive, I would behave more attractively! I asked my husband to let me have a rhinoplasty as a birthday present, and when he saw how much I wanted it he consented."

For Susan M. the rhinoplasty gave her the lift she needed and a new lease on life.

New Lives for Old

"Of course," an eminent psychiatrist warns, "basic conflicts in life are not solved by an operation on the nose, but the manner in which the individual deals with these conflicts is very often changed as a result of the operation."

While women outnumber men 5 to 1 in having rhinoplasties performed, young executives, advertising and promotion specialists, and, of course, entertainers are resorting to rhinoplasty to remove what they feel is a professional handicap.

The case for rhinoplasty has been put this way: "It should not be surprising that among other achievements of science for better living, surgery also offers its contribution beyond the absolute necessities. The justification of any surgical procedure is the good it does for the patient. The increasing public demand for cosmetic surgery is one of the proofs of its achievement."

WHAT PLASTIC SURGERY CAN DO

With improved techniques and a tenfold increase in the number of specialists, including plastic surgeons, rhinoplasts, and dermatologists, many facial disfigurements and irregularities can be corrected, chiefly:

Missshapen Nose

Lop Ears

Acne Scars

Sagging Chin and Face Lift

Protruding Jaw

Underdeveloped Chin

Baggy Eyes

Conspicuous Scars

Caution: To locate a certified specialist in your area consult your family physician or county medical society. Or write the American Board of Plastic Surgery, 4647 Pershing Avenue, St. Louis 8, Mo., enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

I was just thinking... ©

IN JUST A MINUTE, I'm going to write a column based on one of the ideas that have been simmering in my head for days. Right now, I'm really too busy. Here on my desk is a letter from an old friend. It really should be answered first, I think.

Or maybe I ought to go out and look at the flowers. Some of them are weeds, but I'm not sure I know which is which. It was embarrassing last summer when tomatoes came up in the petunia bed. The petunias never came up at all. It certainly is a beautiful day...

The car needs washing. I wash cars rather poorly, but I have a delightful shower in the process. Before I do that, I think I'll walk down to the bridge to see the muskrats. There are some little fish there, too. It's also a fine day for fishing. It's a fine day for almost everything but writing a column.

I do intend to write one. It's all a matter of discipline. Sitting at the typewriter when the sun is shining and the birds are singing and the world is a pearly oyster to be opened is merely a matter of logic. I like to eat regularly, too.

MAYBE I could call Gladys and ask her to run over for a cup of coffee. It's always stimulating to talk to her. She might give me another idea for a column...

If I go out in the kitchen to call her, I'll see the cookbook by the telephone and remember there's a wonderful cookie recipe I haven't tried yet.

Well, maybe the best thing to do would be to sit under the elm tree with my shoes off and drink a nice tall glassful of iced tea. A woman is never too old to wiggle her bare toes in the grass, even if the lawn does need mowing.

Should I mow the lawn? Fresh-cut grass has a heavenly scent. A meadow lark is singing in the apple tree. And any minute now I'm going to write a column. Maybe...

mates. Also, the doctor pointed out, after a lapse of even a short time most people can't remember what someone else's features were like anyway.

Ellen entered the hospital the evening before the operation. Next morning, she was given sedatives to make her drowsy. The operation itself was performed under local anesthesia, and in spite of some misgivings Ellen found that she was glad to be awake. She felt no pain and soon became absorbed in the surgeon's running commentary on the procedure. All cutting was done inside the nose, and the surgeon assured her that no scars would be visible. First, he removed excess bone and cartilage and then, working deftly toward the shape he thought best suited Ellen, he shortened the tip of her nose and leveled the bump. Fifty minutes later, Ellen was back in her room.

What to Expect Afterward

After three days in the hospital, Ellen went home. She wore only a light dressing; an area of discoloration was visible under her eyes. Her "new nose" was stuffed and swollen, and for two weeks she had to breathe through her mouth. Also, there was a numbness as if her nose had been injected with novocain. But when this period was over, she was able to return to school. The swelling would take a couple of months to disappear altogether, and it would be six months before her nose assumed its permanent shape. Meanwhile, through weekly and then monthly visits, the surgeon followed her progress to make certain both the healing and shaping processes were in order.

But the discomforts were minor compared with her delight in what she saw in the mirror. All her old self-consciousness was gone! She felt free to sweep her hair back over her ears, boldly accenting the fine bone structure of her face and—most incredible of all—actually inviting attention to her profile.

The Importance of Beauty

At her first checkup visit to the doctor, Ellen swept into his office and laughed at his astonishment over the change in her.

"I didn't know I was pretty, doctor! But I really am!"

Vanity? The surgeon didn't think so. "Actually," he said, "we should not underrate the importance of beauty and ugliness in human life. Our own body image and the body images of others are the basis for many of our interpersonal relationships."

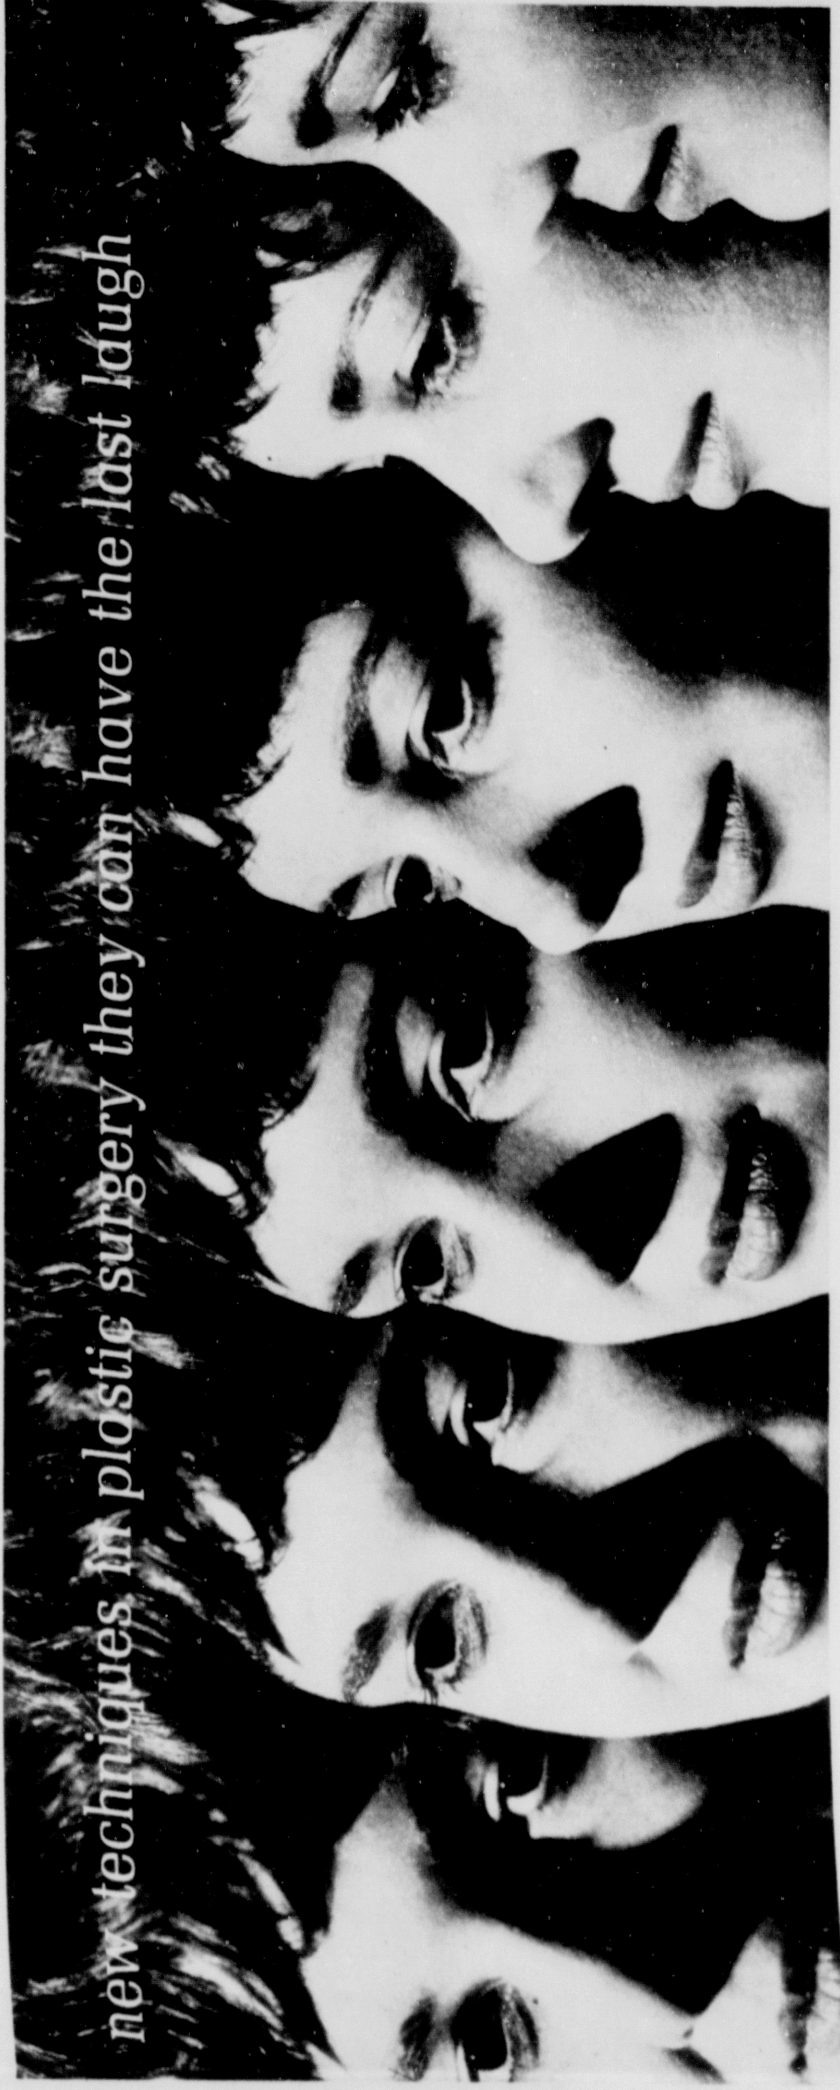

Particularly in the turbulent adolescent years, an ugly or unattractive feature can complicate personality adjustments which are difficult enough already.

The most advantageous years to have a rhinoplasty are from 16 to 19 or even earlier, if full nasal growth and puberty have been reached. However, excellent results are being achieved for women of all ages.

"My only regret," says 32-year-old Martha

Your plain-living neighbors may be far richer than you think!

Almost every street has such a family. They're fine, decent, well-liked folks, but from their way of living, it is generally assumed they are people of very modest means. The facts might surprise the whole neighborhood.

After all, there are different kinds of riches, and the important ones seldom show. For example, many a thoughtful father has decided to invest in more life insurance rather than in additional luxuries. You can't see the greater security this investment brings . . . or the funds it can build for a college education or a more comfortable retirement income. Yet it offers more meaningful wealth to these farsighted families.

Pickling and Preserving Tips

About Equipment—Assemble and check jars and jelly glasses for chips and cracks. If using jars, read manufacturer's directions for sealing them. Be sure to use new lids for jars having two-piece metal caps. Include in your equipment two large kettles (one for sterilizing jars and glasses), long-handled tongs, ladle, wide-mouthed funnel, colander, 1-qt. measure, cheesecloth, and food chopper.

About Pickling—Select fresh, firm fruits and vegetables. Use fresh spices for best results. Tie whole spices in a spice bag or square of cheesecloth.

About Jellies, Jams, Marmalades, and Preserves—Select firm fruits, using a mixture of ripe and slightly underripe fruits. The latter contain a large amount of pectin, a substance which makes jelly "jell." When making jelly and marmalade, cook the fruit with the peel (or skin) and the core as these are rich in pectin, too.

For making jelly, a jelly bag will be needed. A commercial bag may be purchased or you can make one. Cut a double thickness of cheesecloth about 36 in. long and fold in half. Dip cloth into hot water before using and wring well. To strain juice from fruit pulp, put a large strainer or colander over a bowl and spread cheesecloth inside the colander. Pour in the cooked fruit, gather up the 4 corners of cheesecloth, and tie firmly. Allow the juice to drip through cloth into bowl.

Cook juice-sugar mixtures rapidly when making jelly; slow cooking destroys pectin and results in a gummy product. Use no more than 3 cups juice at a time for best results. Use no more than 3 to 4 qts. of fruit for other products with the exception of fruit butters.

To make jelly test, dip a spoon into boiling liquid; lift and tilt it so that sirup runs off side of spoon. At first it runs off in a thin stream and when the last few drops run together or "sheet," the mixture should be removed from heat.

About Sterilizing Jars and Glasses—Put clean jars or glasses on a rack or folded dish towel placed in the bottom of a large kettle or sauce pot. Add boiling water to cover jars or glasses; boil 5 min.

About Filling and Sealing Jars or Glasses—Remove only one jar or jelly glass at a time (using long-handled tongs) and drain. Place a wide-mouthed funnel in top of jar and ladle hot mixture to within ½ in. of top. Use a clean, damp cloth to remove any food particles that may be on the sealing edge of jar, or on the inside above the surface of contents. Drain jar covers and seal jars at once, following manufacturer's directions. If glasses are used, seal with melted paraffin, pouring it over surface of jelly to make a layer about ¼ in. thick. Let this layer cool completely, then pour over a second layer of same thickness. Tilt glass to distribute paraffin evenly over top and to seal it to edges of glass. Label and cover glasses.

Tomato-Orange Marmalade Relish

- 5¼ lbs. (about 10 large) firm, ripe tomatoes
- Sugar (about 5 lbs.)
- 3 medium-sized navel oranges
- 2 medium-sized lemons
- 2 2-in. sticks cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon whole cloves
- 3 oz. diced crystallized ginger

1. To loosen skins, plunge tomatoes into boiling water, then into cold water. Remove skins and thinly slice tomatoes. Drain thoroughly in a colander and reserve ½ cup juice. Weigh tomatoes and reserved juice (weight should be about 5 lbs.).
2. Turn into a 10-qt. kettle. Add sugar to equal the weight of tomatoes.
3. Slice oranges and lemons about 1/16 in. thick (remove lemon seeds), then cut slices into quarters. (There should be 3¾ cups orange and 1¼ cups lemon pieces.) Blend into tomato mixture.
4. Tie spices in spice bag and add to fruit mixture. Place over medium heat and bring to boiling; reduce heat and simmer until fruit is clear and juice has been reduced to one-half, about 1 hr., stirring occasionally.
5. Stir in crystallized ginger the last 10 min.
6. Ladle into sterilized jars and seal.

Eleven ½-pt. jars marmalade relish

Pineapple-Rhubarb Jam

CONVENIENCE FOOD RECIPE

- 1 1-lb. pkg. frozen rhubarb, thawed
- 1 1-lb., 4½-oz. can (2½ cups) crushed pineapple
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 6 cups sugar
- ½ cup liquid pectin
- Few drops red food coloring

1. Combine first five ingredients in a large, heavy saucepan. Add sugar and mix thoroughly.

2. Bring to full rolling boil over high heat and boil rapidly for 1 min., stirring constantly.

3. Remove from heat and immediately stir in liquid pectin and food coloring. Skim foam from surface, then stir about 10 min. to cool jam slightly and keep fruit in suspension.

4. Ladle jam quickly into sterilized jars and seal.

Seven ½-pt. jars jam

Watermelon-Corn Relish

- 1 qt. fresh whole-kernel corn (about 5 ears corn)
- 1 qt. diced, peeled watermelon rind, cooked*
- 1 cup coarsely chopped celery
- 1 cup finely diced red pepper
- ½ cup finely diced green pepper
- ½ cup coarsely chopped onion
- 1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1½ teaspoons mustard seed
- 1½ teaspoons dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- ¼ teaspoon turmeric
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 2 cups cider vinegar
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup cornstarch

1. Stir together in a large kettle the first seven ingredients and a mixture of the following six.
2. Stir in the vinegar and a mixture of the water and cornstarch. Bring to boiling; stir constantly.
3. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, about 25 min., stirring occasionally.

4. Ladle into sterilized jars and seal.

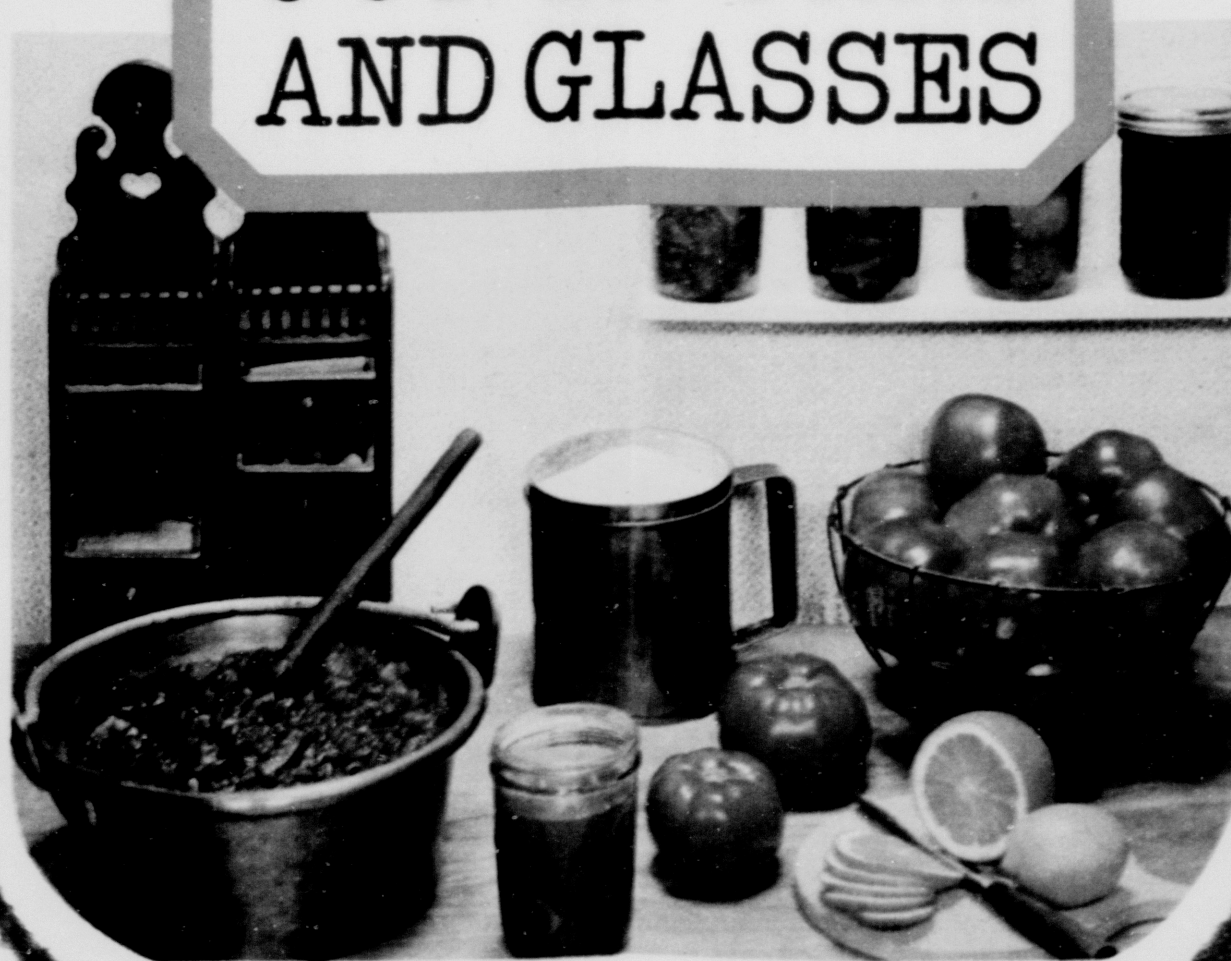

About four 1-pt. jars relish

*To Prepare and Cook Watermelon Rind—Put diced watermelon rind into a bowl; cover with 2 cups water mixed with 2 teaspoons salt. Cover; let stand about 4 hrs. Drain well and put rind into a saucepan; add 2 cups water. Cover, bring to boiling, and boil 5 min., or until tender. Drain.

JOY IN JARS AND GLASSES

Below: Tomato-Orange Marmalade Relish is equally delicious served as a meat accompaniment or as a spread for toast or crackers.

Spiced Fresh Peaches

- 25 firm ripe peaches (about 6 lbs.)
- Whole cloves
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 cups cider vinegar
- 3 3-in. sticks cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- 2½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar

1. Rinse and plunge peaches into boiling water to loosen skins. Plunge into cold water and gently slip off skins.
2. Insert 2 or 3 cloves into each peach and put peaches into large kettle. Cover with boiling water and cook 5 min., or until almost tender. Drain, reserving ½ cup liquid for sirup.
3. Mix 2 cups sugar, reserved peach liquid, vinegar, and cinnamon in a 4-qt. kettle. Tie allspice in a spice bag and add to mixture. Boil 5 min.
4. Add one layer of peaches at a time to sirup, lower heat and simmer until peaches are thoroughly heated, 2 to 3 min. Remove to a large bowl. Repeat until all peaches have been heated.
5. Remove spice bag from sirup and pour sirup over peaches; cover and let stand overnight.
6. The next morning, drain sirup from peaches. Pour sirup into a 4-qt. kettle; add brown sugar and bring to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add peaches and bring sirup to full rolling boil. Remove from heat.
7. Pack hot peaches into sterilized jars and pour hot sirup to within ½ in. of top of jar. Seal at once.

About three 1-qt. jars spiced peaches

Note: Allowing fruit to stand in sirup overnight before packing into jars prevents peaches from shriveling and "floating" after they are canned.

Sliced Cucumber Pickles

- 6 lbs. cucumbers (about 4 in. long), thinly sliced; do not pare
- 4 large onions, shredded (about 1 qt.)
- 2 green peppers, shredded (about 2 cups)
- ½ cup salt
- 5 cups cider vinegar
- 5 cups sugar
- 1½ teaspoons turmeric
- 2 tablespoons mustard seed
- 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons celery seed
- 16 whole cloves

1. Mix together the cucumbers, onion, green pepper, and salt in a large bowl or earthenware crock. Cover vegetables with small ice cubes. Cover with a weighted plate and set aside about 3 hrs. Drain.
2. Meanwhile, blend vinegar and remaining ingredients together in a large kettle.
3. Add drained vegetables and set over medium heat. Heat thoroughly (do not boil), stirring occasionally with a wooden spoon.
4. Pack into sterilized jars and seal.

Eight 1-pt. jars pickles

Grape-Quince Jelly

- 2 lbs. (about 6) tart apples
- 2 lbs. (about 6) quince
- 3 lbs. Concord grapes
- ¾ cup red wine vinegar
- 1½ teaspoons whole cloves
- 1 stick cinnamon, broken in three pieces
- Sugar (about 9 cups)

1. Wash apples and quince; remove stems, blossom ends, and blemished portions. Cut apples into quarters and put quince through coarse blade of food chopper.
2. Rinse grapes; remove stems and blemished

grapes. (There should be about 2 qts. grapes.)

3. Put fruits into a 6-qt. kettle. Cover with water (about 2 qts.), and cook, covered, over medium heat until quince is soft. Turn into jelly bag and let drain 6 to 12 hrs. (There will be about 9 cups fruit juice.)

4. To make jelly, measure 3 cups juice into a 2-qt. saucepan; add ¼ cup red wine vinegar, ½ teaspoon whole cloves, and one piece of cinnamon. Bring rapidly to boiling and add 3 cups sugar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking rapidly until mixture responds to jelly test. Remove from heat and skim foam from surface. Pour jelly mixture through a small sieve into sterilized glasses or jars. Discard spices. Cover jelly in glasses with melted paraffin, or seal jars.

5. Repeat step 4 two times, using remaining juice.

About ten 8-oz. glasses jelly

Green Tomato Pickles

- 8 lbs. green tomatoes, thinly sliced
- 6 large onions, thinly sliced
- ¼ cup salt
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 2 tablespoons whole cloves
- 2 tablespoons whole allspice
- 2 tablespoons mustard seed
- 2 teaspoons pickling spices
- 3½ cups cider vinegar
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 2 large red peppers, coarsely chopped

1. Put tomatoes and onions into separate bowls; sprinkle tomatoes with ¼ cup salt and onions with 2 tablespoons salt. Cover bowls; let stand 12 hrs.
2. Drain vegetables thoroughly; discard liquid.
3. Tie whole spices in a spice bag and put into a large kettle; add vinegar and a mixture of sugar and dry mustard. Heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved.
4. Add tomatoes, onions, and red peppers; cook, uncovered, slowly until tomatoes are just tender, about 20 min.
5. Pack into sterilized jars and seal.

Four 1-pt. jars pickles
